Very Much Like War.
Old Cat Dying Out.
More Silver Talk.
Why Have Cavalry?

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THERE IS FIGHTING with heavy bombardment in Tientsin.

Chinese troops, massing in force, threaten more attacks on Japanese.

Japan's foreign minister tells our Secretary Stimson, with all Oriental politeness, that Japan will mind her own business, if the United States will mind its business, in connection with Eastern matters.

THE RUSSIANS are doing what they can to help northern China. They do not want a new Japanese empire located along the Russian border in Manchuria to absorb Japan's surplus population.

IN HANKOW yesterday 3,000 young Chinese students, men and women, paraded the streets, making frenzied demands for a war against Japan.

That reminds you of the good old days when this country was accusing Germany of crucifying captured enemies, cutting off the hands and feet of children, et cetera.

OUR GEN. DAWES, of the short pipe, and short words, is ordered to Paris to talk about Manchuria with the European nations. He has common sense, fortunately, and will probably realize that Japan's business and Russia's business are THEIR business, not ours.

YESTERDAY WAS Armistice Day, and the nations seemed inclined to "let the old cat die out." The day becomes less and less important. Some old enough to vote, male and female, if you mention the war, will ask "What war?" It is not real to them, although real enough to those that fought or lost their sons in it.

Dublin celebrated the day with a fight, and rioting. Big and rich New York paid little attention. President Hoover made a speech.

GRASS IS growing on the battlefields. French factories that were obsolete in 1914 have been rebuilt, up to date, in excellent competing condition with German, American and British money. Old hatreds are slowly dying.

And the world's eyes are turned toward the rising war in Asia. Time obliterates everything.

THE NEW YORK Times announces a "cartel" to stabilize silver in all world markets. Solomon R. Guggenheim, who knows silver as well as anyone, says that the people of South America and Central Europe, as well as Asia, "wish hard money, money which, when saved, and handed down to their descendants, will have the same value as in the days of the original saver."

Those people, more than 1,000,000,000 of them on the earth, don't care for paper money, which can be manufactured too easily.

THE DESIRE of United States finance would be to maintain a monopoly of the world's real money by recognizing only gold, while selling our large production of silver to "inferior peoples."

That plan, however, would be thwarted by other nations.

Countries that want to use silver, and break the two-nation grip of the gold monopoly, would coin exclusively silver produced OUTSIDE OF THE UNITED STATES.

Their mints would accept silver from South America, Mexico, Canada, China, India, any country treating silver as real money. Silver from the United States, while this government refuses to recognize silver currency, would be boycotted, producers invited to eat it, since they see virtue only in gold.

NEWS THAT a prosperous American has paid the Russian government more than $6,000,000 for some fine works of art collected by the discarded czars, is good news.

Whoever brings fine paintings, statues or tapestries to the United States renders public service. Just at present, with gold scarce, wonderful opportunities for art bargains may be had in Russia, Spain and elsewhere.

SOME ONE SHOULD try to buy from Russia the library of Voltaire, bought by the Empress Catherine and taken to St. Petersburg when Voltaire died. That library, of 6,000 volumes, many thousands of its pages annotated in Voltaire's fine handwriting, would be worth owning, much more precious than any number of fat Venuses by Rubens.

Russia probably would refuse to sell.

IN THE ECONOMY wave, cavalry in the United States Army has been decreased, and there is protest.

Modern war makes cavalry useless and keeping ANY cavalry, unless to use it against strikers or other mobs, is foolish.

Ten modern tanks could plow their way through 50,000 cavalry as easily as a heavy truck could go through mice.

Alexander, with his few men, proved that the Persian "cavalry," long rows of elephants, could do nothing against military science.

Lady Heath Weds Aviator At Fox Hunt

LADY MARY HEATH

Crowd Sees Woman Flier Married to Third Husband

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 12.—(AP.)—Lady Mary Heath, English aviatrix, and George Anthony Reginald Williams, aviator, were married here today in the presence of hundreds of friends and spectators who came like them to attend the Prince of Wales steeplechase, feature of today's national fox hunt program.

Gov. Flem D. Sampson gave the bride away, and Mrs. Sampson attended the ceremony.

It was the third wedding for the bride, who gave her age as 34, and the first for Williams, son of the Rt. Hon. George Williams, a British governmemnt official in the Windward Islands. He gave his age as 33, and Lady Mary before the wedding had said she was glad for once to marry a man about her own age.

Lady Heath explained:

"My first husband would be way past 80 if he were living now. He was Elliott Lynn. My second husband, Sir James Heath, was 56 when we were married."

CLOSED BANK OFFICIAL ACCUSED

Secretary of Citizens Trust Charged With Embezzling $12,229 From Institution

Ansley D. Smith, of 522 Teece avenue, Bellevue, secretary-treasurer of the closed Citizens Trust Company, of Bellevue, was charged late today with embezzling $12,229.74 of the institution's funds. A warrant for his arrest was issued.

Information against Smith was made by George F. Taylor, Jr., special deputy secretary of banking, before Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan. It sets forth that the alleged defalcation took place "on before and after July 9, 1931."

Asked as to specific acts covered by the information Taylor refused to discuss the evidence uncovered. It is understood, however, that the information was a preliminary action with the object of holding the former banker within the court's jurisdiction.

Smith, before becoming an officer of the Citizens Trust Company was a chief state bank examiner in this district.

The bank was taken over October 24 by the State Banking Department, following reported withdrawals. J. D. Swigart, representative of the department in this part of the state has been auditing the institution's books.

The bank was reported to have had deposits of $1,500,000 and resources of $2,000,000.

Japanese Plot Restoration of Manchu Ruler

By JOHN GOETTE
International News Service.

PEIPING, Nov. 12.—Smuggled out of Tientsin on a Japanese warship under cover of riots staged to divert attention from his departure, Hsuan Tung, the deposed "Boy Emperor" of China, was being taken to Dairen today en route to Mukden to be installed as ruler of Manchuria.

The sensational revelation of a deep-laid plot to restore the Manchu dynasty with Japanese aid was made to International News Service in reliable reports received through confidential channels from Tientsin.

RUSH INSTALLATION

All plans have been made, the reports declared, to install Hsuan Tung, known during his long exile in Tientsin as Mr. Henry Pu-Yi, as Manchurian emperor before November 16, the date set by the League of Nations Council for withdrawal of Japanese troops from Manchuria.

All details of the plot were left to Maj. Doihara Japanese army officer, stationed in Tientsin, the reports said. The week-end rioting near the Japanese concession in that city, which resulted in numerous casualties and caused the calling out of American and other foreign troops, was believed, at least partially, a smoke-screen to divert attention of Chinese authorities from the plot.

With Hsuan Tung, the reports declared, went members of his entourage who had been living with him in the Japanese concession

D. A. R. ASKS TEACHERS' DRY OATH

Convention Here Proposes State Law for Ban on Instructors Who Drink

Public school teachers and college professors could only occupy their posts after taking pledges not to use liquor under a law urged in Pennsylvania today by the 500 delegates to the state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution in the William Penn Hotel.

That a state law be passed to enforce such a ban will be recommended to Gov. Pinchot and members of the Legislature by terms of a resolution accepted from the resolution committee.

Teachers in all institutions supported wholly or in part by public funds would be required to take the oath by terms of the proposed law.

That the state delegation indorsed the move was conceded through its acceptance of the resolution presented by Mrs. John J. Repp, of Philadelphia, committee chairman.

Formal indorsement was to be given at the afternoon session through a vote by the delegations. The oath would pledge support to both the Volstead act and the Snyder act.

The convention refused to accept a resolution today that would ban all speakers opposed to the present government or its form from appearing in Independence Hall, Philadelphia. In voting, the delegates expressed the opinion that such matter should be left to the Philadelphia authorities to decide.

Parent of Victim Declares Slayer Cannot Hide Behind Girl Family Has Disgraced

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12—(AP.)—Francis A. Donaldson, Jr., father of the young society man shot to death by Edwin H. B. Allen, in a statement today, said that the "brutal murder" cannot be exculpated by a distracted father "to save his son by hiding behind the skirts of his daughter whose character the father himself destroys."

The statement was the reply of the Donaldson family to the statement made last night by Horace Allen, father of the slayer, that Francis A. Donaldson III had been guilty of misconduct with Rose E. W. Allen, 18-year-old daughter of Horace Allen. The statement said:

"A brutal, premeditated murder cannot be exculpated by the futile attempt of a badly advised, distracted father to save his son by hiding him behind the skirts of his daughter, whose character the father himself destroys.

METHOD NOT NEW

"The attempt to poison public opinion before the trial by having Mr. Allen's statement broadcast through the press is not original nor new, nor will it accomplish its purpose.

"The truth of this terrible tragedy will come from the lips of disinterested witnesses at the proper time. Until then no accusations are made by me. I confidently await the result of the action of the proper legal authorities moving through the channels provided by law."

The statement was made by the father as the body of the son lay within his home awaiting burial, probably late today. It was issued a short time after John B. Hannum, Jr., of Chester, former district attorney of Delaware County,

11 ADRIFT WEEK SAVED BY SHIP

By JAMES A. RYAN
International News Service.

COLON, Panama, Nov. 12.—Snatched from a watery grave that claimed the lives of five men when the coastal steamer Baden Baden foundered in a storm en route from Colombia to Panama, 11 members of the crew were rescued by the United States mine sweeper Swan today after floating for almost a week in an open lifeboat.

First news that the disaster had taken a heavy toll of life was given to the crew of the Swan by the captain of the ill-starred vessel, who was among the 11 men rescued after lengthy search by sea and air.

Hewitt Walter, the American captain of the ship, which was of Costa Rican registry, was suffering from a severe injury to his spine. The other 10 men were weak from exposure and lack of food, but none was reported in a serious condition.

Joseph Lau, owner of the ship, was one of the rescued. Together with the other survivors, he had tossed for days in the cockleshell in raging storms, while American warships, passengers liners, freighters and six airplanes scoured the Caribbean for traces of them.

The commander of the Swan advised United States naval authorities he had taken the survivors aboard and was proceeding immediately to the Coco Solo naval base with the battered lifeboat in tow.

Rescue of the shipwrecked men climaxed days of searching instituted immediately after the pilot of a Pan-American Airways plane reported sighting the survivors while en route to Panama from South America.

RACE 'BOOKIE' SHOP RAIDED

Inspector Albert Beebe and five patrolmen in a radio scout car raided a "bookie" shop at 118 Sixth street shortly after noon today. Beebe said it was the largest race betting establishment in the city.

George Kappas, "George the Greek," 35, of 305 Atwood street, was arrested as the proprietor, and G. W. Metzous, 27, of 2918 Clarmont street, as his assistant.

Twenty men, Beebe said, who were studying race form sheets as the raiders entered, were released.

As the police entered, Beebe said, Metzous was writing the odds on "I'll Get By," horse in the fourth race at Pimlico, on a large blackboard at one end of the room. He said:

"They 'got by' until we found out about the place."

The raid followed testimony by Joseph Miller, 28, of 601 West Diamond street, North Side, in Morals Court this morning. Miller, arrested on complaint of the mother of a girl who lived at the same address, was fined $25. He told Magistrate Thomas D. Jones that he worked in a "bookie" shop at 118 Sixth street. The raid resulted.

PARIS, Nov. 12.—(INS.)—Reports spread here this afternoon as deputies gathered in the lobbies of the chamber for the reconvening of Parliament that a Franco-German agreement on reparations and private debts has been reached.

No confirmation was obtainable at the foreign office or at the official residence of Premier Pierre Laval, who has been conducting negotiations during the week with German Ambassador Von Hoesch.

Hamlin Garland, chairman of the Academy Radio Committee, said Holbrook's voice combined "the best of English and American English," and commended his taste, pronunciation, grace and authority in their use.

Educated in Toronto and Quebec, Holbrook started out as a ski-jumper, but later switched to banking, the stage, and finally radio. He is blue-eyed and six feet tall.

He declared that the medal award was the second surprise of his life, the first being the promise of Miss Katherine Renwick, NBC actress, to become his wife before the year ends.

Hoover Kin Arrest Upheld By Rudy's Father-in-Law

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Nov. 12.—(AP.)—The father-in-law of Rudy Vallee believes a brother-in-law of President Hoover was the victim of circumstances in his arrest here on a charge of possessing liquor.

Clarence Webb, chief of police and the father of Mrs. Vallee, said, however, he would "stand squarely behind" the officer who arrested the President's kinsman, C. Van Ness Leavitt, 57, as he emerged from a grocery store Monday. The chief said:

"I do not believe Leavitt is a bootlegger. I believe the story he has told, that when he was caught with 19 pints of whisky in a gunnysack he was trying to be a good fellow and help someone out of trouble.

"Politics played no part in the arrest and there is no reason for anyone to claim a frame-up."

Leavitt is a retired plumbing contractor. He and C. R. Daily, 43, owner of the store, face a hearing on state dry charges Monday. Both are at liberty under bond.

COLLECT FOREIGN DEBTS, LEGALIZE BEER, BARUCH URGES

INDUSTRIAL AID BY TRUST LAW CHANGE ASKED

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Certain changes which he believed would help alleviate economic ills of America and the world were enumerated yesterday by Bernard M. Baruch, financier, prominent Democrat, and friend of the late Woodrow Wilson.

Speaking at an Armistice Day reunion of the United States War Industries Board at the Savoy-Plaza, Baruch suggested an American "high court of commerce" to sanction certain relaxations of the Sherman anti-trust law.

He warned against cancellation of inter-governmental debts, advised a new Tariff Board with broader powers and suggested increased income taxes in the higher brackets, and modification of the Volstead act as an economic palliative.

POINTS TO RITCHIE

Because of his influence in the councils of the Democratic party and because he is regarded as a spokesman for a certain section of that party, significance was attached to his remark about Gov. Ritchie, of Maryland.

Baruch said the "finger of fate seems to point to Ritchie as 'perhaps destined' to occupy the White House." Baruch's address is, in part:

"... on the end of the Hoover ... of moratorium on governmental debts will be upon us. We will then again be faced with the debts and reparations questions. There can be no settlement of either of those questions until the age-long struggle involving France, Germany and Poland is adjusted in a manner that will bring about lasting peace among those three countries.

'CANNOT CANCEL DEBTS'

"Many people ask for a cancellation of debts, but they cannot be cancelled. If we forgive the money that is owned us, the American taxpayer, manufacturer, laborer and farmer must pay them.

"One fact is obvious: that the modification of the Volstead act and the legalization of beer and light wines would give us enormous tax receipts—to say nothing of the revivification of industries and the return to work of many thousands of the unemployed.

"Through the proof of the soundness of the dollar and the rise in agricultural prices at least one great thing has been done; the spirit of defeatism which seemed to have gripped this nation of sons of pioneers has been broken.

"I am not making any predictions, but of one thing I am certain: That we have disrupted the continuity of pessimism. We have girded our lions and American business men like you will finish the job."

RITCHIE URGES 6-HOUR DAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(INS.)—Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, seen by Bernard Baruch as "possibly destined for the White House," said today he favors the six-hour day in industry. Ritchie said:

"I am in favor of the six-hour day or anything else that will actually help industry and relieve unemployment."

The Maryland executive, who arrived here for a conference with Democratic leaders, declined to discuss national or international affairs from the viewpoint of a potential candidate. He announced himself as opposed to cancellation of war debts and then viewed the League of Nations as being placed on trial through the Manchurian crisis.

PARADE HONORS ROAD OPENING

The opening of a direct road from the West End to Greentree Borough was celebrated yesterday with an automobile parade and speeches by the city, county and borough officials.

The parade formed in Neptune street, West End, at 2:30 p. m. and proceeded over the newly-paved Independence street and Greentree road to the borough line, where the speaking took place.

Miss Genevieve Johnson, 16, of Greentree, cut the ribbon held by Miss Ruth Heckler, 18, of Greentree, and Miss Dorothy McCall, 14, of 30 Wabash avenue, West End. Speakers were Public Works Director Edward G. Lang, Burgess Samuel C. Lampe, of Greentree; James T. Fox, president of the West End Board of Trade, and Fred Ruoss, president of the Greentree Advancement League. O. W. Heselbarth, Greentree councilman, was master of ceremonies.

The parade was led by the Langley High School band and the drum and bugle corps of the Chateau Post No. 258, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The new highway to Greentree has some historic interest, since it follows the route of the Washington pike from the old stone tavern in the West End to the Scott Township line.

AVALON'S TAX FUNDS SHORT

An audit of the books of Mrs. Marie G. Scott, former tax collector of Avalon, showed a shortage of $4,260, the American Surety Company, of New York, reported to the Borough Council last night.

W. A. Caddick, borough auditor, reported that his check showed the shortage to be $5,931, for the period from 1926 to September, 1931, when Mrs. Scott resigned. Council authorized the finance committee to compromise the difference with the bonding company. The borough authorities blamed the shortage on careless methods, making no accusation of dishonesty. Caddick was voted $250 for his audit. Eric B. Logan was elected collector in Mrs. Scott's place, at the time of her resignation.

GRANDI TO RAISE 5 POINTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—Every page in the book of international problems in which Italian-American co-operation might offer solutions will be turned next week by Foreign Minister Grandi, of Italy, and President Hoover.

Like the talks between President Hoover and Premier Laval, of France, however, the world's economic situation and the bearing which international relations have upon it will be constantly in the foreground.

President Hoover is fully prepared to discuss all five of the points understood to be contained in the program which Grandi brings. Three of the Foreign Minister's points will offer no difficulty. They are almost echoes of American policy, calling for world economic co-operation, disarmament by a fair method and maintenance of the gold standard. On the other two, the President will seek an understanding of Italy's position. They center around war debts and reparations and peace treaty revision.

CONGRESSMEN WILL STUDY SALES TAX

Party of 100 to Be Guests Of W. R. Hearst on 6-Day Tour of Canadian Cities

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—With approximately 100 Senators and Representatives aboard, a special train will leave Washington Saturday night for a six-day tour that will take the congressional delegation to the principal cities of Eastern Canada. The purpose of the trip will be to study first-hand the operation of sales tax legislation now in force in the Dominion.

The members of Congress will make this journey at the invitation of William Randolph Hearst so that they may have factual knowledge of the workings of the sales tax method of raising governmental revenues in a country where economic conditions and trade practices are more nearly identical with those in the United States than anywhere else in the world.

TO AID CONGRESS

The information thus obtained will be at the disposal of Congress when it arrives at consideration of sales tax legislation expected to be proposed at the forthcoming session.

In his invitation to members of Congress to make this trip Mr. Hearst called attention to the fact that the Treasury Department some time ago announced that limited sales tax legislation was being considered as a possible means toward helping curtail the government's probable Treasury deficit.

STUDY SALES TAX

The invitation stated further:

"In each of these places (Montreal, Ottawa and Quebec) every facility will be offered you to study individually the operation of the tax in all of its phases.

"No effort will be made to propagandize members for or against this tax plan, nor will such visit be construed in any way as committing you to the advocacy of either side of this subject.

"The purpose is merely to provide an educational opportunity for members of the House and Senate to examine the operation of this tax plan in the Dominion."

TWO U. S. NAVAL SQUADRONS CUT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—Slashes in the Asiatic and Carribean squadron brought the naval problem to the fore again today as President Hoover began another perusal of that department's budget for 1933.

With Secretary Adams, Admiral Pratt, the chief of naval operations, and Director Roop of the budget, the President discussed the navy's finances for the next fiscal year in a 45-minute conference.

At the demand of the President, the budget already has been cut $52,000,000 under the amount requested for 1933, but in doing so the navy curtailed many shore activities at navy yards which brought prompt objections.

since the old Manchu dynasty was overthrown in 1912.

His father, Prince Chun, who was reigning as Prince Regent during his son's minority at the time the dynasty fell, may be among those aboard the warship, the reports declared. It was learned he left his hotel in the British concession and moved into the Japanese concession at the insistence of Japanese authorities just before the rioting occurred.

In an interview tonight, Princess Pu-Chien, sister-in-law of the "Boy Emperor," told International News Service she had not the slightest doubt that Hsuan Tung had been "spirited away" by the Japanese. She expressed the belief that the bomb sent to Hsuan Tung's home concealed in a basket of fruit just prior to the rioting represented part of the Japanese plot, indicating violence would be resorted to if he failed to fall in with the Japanese plans.

Russian Arms Reported Shipped to Chinese

TOKIO, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—Reports that 15 carloads of Russian arms and ammunition have arrived at Anganchi, Manchuria, for the Chinese Gen. Mah Chan-Shan, and that a new Chinese attack from Chinchow in the direction of Mukden is threatening reached Tokio today as the government planned to dispatch a large fresh body of troops on Saturday.

Newspaper reports from Mukden today said 50 Chinese were killed and 300 wounded in a three-hour battle last night near Kungchuling, some distance to the north of Mukden, and that among them was a Chinese woman in uniform who died later in a hospital.

A report was also received from Geneva saying the League of Nations might propose an international police patrol in Manchuria to permit Japanese evacuation, but this was not taken seriously by authorities here.

The report on the alleged shipment of Russian arms to the aid of Gen. Mah came from the war office intelligence department which said it had "fairly reliable evidence" from various sources that the shipment arrived over the Chinese Eastern Railway.

'COMMUNIST' ARMY

The intelligence bureau also said it had further information that 2,000 troops of an "international communist army" consisting of Russians, Koreans and Chinese has arrived at Tsitsihar, just north of Gen. Mah's position at Anganchi. The war office said:

"The Russians apparently are planning something."

The new Chinese attack expected in the direction of Mukden is looked for simultaneously with a renewed drive of the army of Gen. Mah in the Nonni bridge area. Gen. Mah's army is said here to number 30,000 men.

GENEVA, Nov. 12.—(INS.)—Japan has delivered an ultimatum to Gen. Ma Chan-Shan demanding his immediate evacuation of Tsitsihar, according to information received by the Chinese delegation here tonight.

Aristide Briand, chairman of the League of Nations Council, today called upon the Japanese and Chinese governments to make every effort to prevent any new military action in Manchuria.

Indications of a strong interest by the United States in the League's efforts to bring about peace in Manchuria had succeeded today in dispelling much of the gloom in which league quarters have been submerged for several days.

LETTER LAUDS HOOVER ACT

Former Gov. John S. Fisher and Mayor Charles H. Kline are among the more than 150 signers to a letter forwarded yesterday to President Hoover commending the administration's course in sending a delegate to co-operate with the League of Nations in an effort to maintain peace in Manchuria.

The communication urges that the United States have a representative at the reconvening of the league next Monday. The President yesterday assigned Ambassador Charles G. Dawes to attend the meeting.

Among other signers to the letter sent from the office of Raymond B. Fosdick, New York, were Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, and Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy.

CAROL LIES ILL AS BROTHER DEFIES HIM

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—King Carol of Rumania lay on a sick bed in Bucharest today while his errant brother, Prince Nicholas, and the latter's bride, continued to ignore the royal summons.

The King's condition, a combination of tonsilitis and bronchitis, was attributed in reports from Bucharest partly to shock from the Prince's elopement and marriage to a commoner last Sunday. He caught a slight cold while leading a parade several days ago, but the marital development aggravated his state in the opinion of his physician.

Meanwhile, legal minds here speculated on the matrimonial status of Nicholas. It would be easy under Rumanian law to declare the marriage illegal, it was pointed out, for no member of the royal family may marry without the consent of the King, and banns must be read two Sundays prior to the ceremony.

OFFERED TO YIELD RIGHTS

But the Prince's stubborn attitude led some to believe he would take his own view of the ceremony's legality. He offered previously to give up his royal prerogatives to marry, and can cite a precedent in Carol's own renunciation of his rights six years ago to continue his romance with Magda Lupescue.

At least one person was resting easy. He is the village [illegible] who married the couple. His court-martial was demanded in high quarters in Bucharest, but the minister of the interior ruled that the mayor could not refuse a command of the Prince and cleared himself of blame when he reported the event to the authorities.

BUCHAREST, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—King Carol's condition was pronounced in a doctor's communique last night to be greatly improved. His temperature was 99 and his pulse 84.

Dowager Queen Marie left for Berlin, where she will consult specialists as to her health.

LEAGUE FOES PLAN FIGHT

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—For the first time since the Senate became the battleground over American participation in the League of Nations and the League Court, the Insurgent bloc is planning a united opposition to adherence.

Announcements within the past few days by two Insurgent leaders, Senators Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, and Wheeler (Dem.), of Montana, that they are against ratification of the revised Root formula for American entrance to the League Court, has cleared the way for joint action by the group.

In the past their lines have been broken on this issue. Norris, Wheeler, Frazier (Rep.), of North Dakota, were willing to approve court adherence under certain mild precautionary reservations. The court's recent undisputedly political decision on the Austro-German customs union has turned these Senators against adherence to the court except under the most drastic reservations.

Eloping Mate Made Recluse Of Woman Worth $250,000

By RONALD E. MILLER
International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—A faithless husband—broken vows—heartbreak—

These were the elements in a bizarre tale of seclusion and mystery disclosed today with death of Mrs. Annie Miller, 72-year-old recluse, who for years immured herself in her gloomy 11-room mansion here, companioned by a score of cats, hoarding a fortune, denying herself food and comforts and arousing pity of neighbors for the aged "mystery woman."

Her strange story unfolded today from the lips of a daughter, Emma, who left home several years ago to go on the stage.

Plaintive mewing of the recluse's "family" of cats and the persistent twitter of a pet bird were all that broke the silence of the decaying mansion, where police discovered more than $250,000 in cash and securities after Mrs. Miller was taken to a hospital, suffering an attack of diabetes. The aged woman died last evening, still a mystery.

It was the desertion of her husband, back in the gay '90s, which drove the aged woman into her hermit-like life, the daughter disclosed. Henry E. Miller and his wife were prominent in the rigid social circles of Philadelphia. On a trip to Atlantic City, he became infatuated with a barmaid.

Forsaking his young wife and her fortune, Miller eloped. Heartbroken, Mrs. Miller obtained a divorce, several social connections and retired to her home.

TEAR GAS READY TO REPEL JAIL ATTACKS

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 12.—This town was in ferment again today.

For "Bluebeard" Harry Powers, who had been whisked away to Moundsville weeks ago from a threatening crowd of citizens, was back in the local jail to await his arraignment on a charge of first degree murder.

The news of his return under a heavy armed escort of state police spread like a wild fire through Clarksburg.

CROWDS GATHER

Shortly after daybreak, groups began assembling outside the jail. They did not say much to each other. The men folks in this foothill section of the Blue Ridges are not over-talkative at any time.

They just kept looking up at the cell tier where was lodged the confessed slayer of the two women victims of his matrimonial correspondence course, and three children.

The victims were Mrs. Dorothy Lemke, of Northboro, Mass.; Mrs. Asta Eicher, of Park Ridge, Ill., and the latter's three children. Their bodies were found in a ditch beside a murder garage Powers had built and which included a subterranean torture chamber near here.

As the crowd grew greater outside the jail today, extra police were thrown around the building. The doors of the entrance to the Sheriff's office in the front of the jail were locked. Tear gas bombs were kept ready for any emergency.

CALM IN CELL

Sheriff W. B. Grimm was asked how Powers acted during his speedy trip from the penitentiary in Moundsville to his old cell. The Sheriff said:

"He was mighty nervous until we got him back in jail. He didn't mind how fast we were going."

Authorities denied, however, that Powers was agitated after he had been jailed here or that he prayed in his cell for protection. They said he was calm and stolid.

For the first time, Powers was told, on his arrival here, that the grand jury had returned five indictments for five murders against him. He said:

"I expected it."

He asked if he could see his wife and how she was feeling.

The letter-writing Romeo may be arraigned tomorrow or Saturday.

After his arraignment, it was expected he would be taken back to Moundsville to await his trial.

If this is not done, International News Service learned today, his trial may be set for next week.

TOLD OF DEATH

Powers was also told today of the finding of the body of Stamatis Sfikas, Greek proprietor of a shoe-shining store, who was a close friend of the West Virginia Bluebeard.

Powers insisted he had no idea how Sfikas could have met his death.

While Powers stands at the threshold of his fate, letters to him from women throughout the country continue to pour in.

With few exceptions, they heap fire upon him for his crimes.

HELD, JR., WEDS BEAUTY QUEEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(INS.)—In a beauty contest, John Held Jr., portrayer of the thin-limbed jazz-age flapper, crowned Miss Gladys Moore belle of New Orleans.

Today she was his bride.

Held quietly slipped away to Stamford, Conn., and was married to Miss Moore there.

Ex-Gunman Here Sought in Slaying

A former Pittsburgh gunman was being sought today by Scranton (Pa.) police as the alleged slayer of Carmen Vitellarok, 50, of Throop, near Scranton. The killing, described by police as a renewal of "beer racket warfare," they said, was witnessed by Bernardino Runco, 46, companion of the murdered man. Runco said the slayer fired one shot at him. The bullet went wild. Police said the slayer lived in Pittsburgh until a month ago.

KERR DECIDES NOT TO SEIZE BONDS

City Controller Gives as Reason Desire to Guard Depositors' Interests

City Controller James P. Kerr announced today he will not seize, as required by city ordinance, bonds posted to secure city deposits in closed banks totaling $1,246,000.

Kerr gave as reason his desire to protect depositors' interests. Market prices of the bonds, he said, are going up. With the exception of $125,000 of City Treasurer's money in the Franklin Savings and Trust Company, Kerr said, all such money in closed banks is secured.

SUIT IN COURT

Meanwhile, arguments on the suit of George P. Taylor, Jr., as special deputy of banking in charge of the Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company, for recovery of bonds valued at $118,000 held by the city to secure a $100,000 deposit there, were to be heard in Common Pleas Court.

Assistant City Solicitor Thomas M. Benner, representing the city, claims the bonds were given to City Treasurer Roy D. Schooley to secure the $100,000 deposit replacing a surety bond.

ORAL AGREEMENT

Taylor, however, claims on September 25, at about 3 p. m., the bank delivered the bonds to Robert Torrence, acting as cashier for the treasurer, with an oral understanding that the bonds should be held as security for the deposit only if the surety bond, issued by the United States Casualty Company, should be canceled, at 1:15 p. m., September 26.

At 8:30 a. m., September 26, Taylor claims, he, acting for Secretary of Banking William D. Gordon, took possession of the Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company, before time for cancellation of the surety bond. The United States Casualty Company's bond, therefore, Taylor claims, covers loss of the deposit and the securities should be returned to the bank to be listed among its assets.

Bonds of 19 corporations, approved by the Pittsburgh Clearing House Association, were pledged for the deposit.

'Uncle Sam Not On Level,' Woman Dry Spy Ends Life

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 12.—(AP.)—Mrs. Della Christie, 39, former Cincinnati prohibition informer, shot herself to death with a shotgun in her hotel room last night. Her husband, Alex Christie, is serving a term in the Federal Prison at Atlanta, according to notes she left.

One of the notes read:

"I've lived in the past, present and future. Now I want to see what's on the other side. Let Uncle Sam bury me. He's not on the level either."

In a note to her husband she mentioned the fact it was their wedding anniversary. Christie was convicted for liquor law violation according to other notes.

DRY REPEALER TO BE ASKED IN FINLAND

Government Investigators See Prohibition Failure; Urge Beer, Light Wines

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—A majority report condemning prohibition in Finland under the present laws will be submitted by the government commission appointed last winter to investigate prohibition, it was learned yesterday on the highest authority.

The general view of the commission is that the present laws are insupportable, and the report will recommend that beer and wines of medium strength be legalized.

WINE MAKING URGED

The report offers three proposals:

1. To permit manufacture, transport, storage and importation of wines of not more than 12 per cent of alcoholic content by volume, 3.2 per cent beer and 12 per cent liquers.

2. Amendment of the present laws to make that proposal possible, and establishment of a local option system by which any community might forbid manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages, but not importation by individuals for personal consumption at their homes. Neither may communities confiscate beverages stored in the home for personal consumption.

3. Establishment of a company to supervise distribution of legal alcoholic beverages.

In making these proposals the commission will say that its recommendations are made with a view to what would be acceptable to the government and the diet, and the interests of attaining real temperance in Finland.

STRONG DRINK CUT SEEN

The report expresses the hope of the commission that if 12 per cent alcohol content is permitted the consumption of stronger spirits will be reduced, but it makes no effort to keep stronger beverages out of the country entirely, although it refuses to go further in legalizing beverages above the alcoholic content recommended.

The commission assumes state control of the liquor tax, but the report asserts its members have no illusions regarding the revenue to be derived, particularly since they believe the manufacture of beer and wine in the home will increase. Attempting to stop home manufacture would exceed the government's capacity, the report states.

PEGGY SEASICK ON ROUGH TRIP

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(INS.)—The Ile de France steamed into New York today, a day late because of the roughest voyage of her career.

Two portholes were broken, a piece of railing was swept away, and many passengers—including Peggy Hopkins Joyce—spent practically the entire passage in their staterooms. Peggy said:

"I thought several times the ship was going down with all hands."

Miss Joyce, who returned to star in a new show being rehearsed by E. Ray Goetz, denied that she is in love or contemplating taking a sixth husband.

Less Rouge, More Spinach Urged to Working Girls

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—To be a success the working girl should be careful of over-use of her lipstick, eat spinach, get eight hours of sleep, and avoid gossip.

Rules for the girl who has to work for a living, embodying these suggestions, were adopted yesterday by officers of the Phi Pi Psi sorority. Others are:

"Keep thin.
"Don't chew gum.
"Be on time."

2 FEARED DEAD IN FALLS CRASH

NIAGARA FALLS, Nov. 12.—(INS.)—Police here were investigating the possibility that two men were in an expensive cabin cruiser that swept over the Canadian Horseshoe Falls at 8 a. m. today.

Albert Perry, chief of police of Chippewa, Ont., saw the craft plunge over the falls.

He descended to the edge of Niagara River, just below the falls, and found wreckage of the craft swirling in the rapids. Two life preservers, bearing no marks of identification, were seen floating in the water.

Perry said that yesterday he had seen two men working on the boat in Chippewa Creek, repairing an engine that evidently had been giving them trouble.

PEACE APPEAL MADE BY DAVIS

The unveiling of Carnegie's memorial to the veterans of all United States wars marked yesterday by a plea for closer adherence to the ideals of peace, delivered by United States Senator James J. Davis.

Addressing a crowd of more than 1,000 persons gathered about the granite memorial at Beechwood avenue and Broadway, opposite Carnegie High School, Senator Davis declared this country should attend to its own affairs and keep clear of foreign entanglements.

Col. Thomas E. Morgan, 87, last survivor of the Grand Army in Carnegie, who unveiled the monument, was given the honorary title of "General" by A. W. Schreiber, master of ceremonies. Senator Davis confirmed this "appointment," lauding the boys in blue and declaring that were it not for their sacrifices the labor of the nation might today be performed by slaves.

The memorial, erected by popular subscription solicited by a Red Cross memorial committee, was presented by Justice of the Peace A. W. McMillen and the acceptance was made by J. Kelso Nickel, burgess. The gift was acknowledged by Col. Morgan for the G. A. R., Capt. Harry Couch for the Spanish-American War Veterans, Frank J. Skirpan for the Veterans of Foreign Wars and E. J. Wahl for the American Legion.

Seventy-eight ships remaining at both ends of the canal will be permitted to pass through as quickly as possible, but must proceed cautiously and will use tugs instead of their own power.

Raided Stores' Ads Ban Police Annual

OMAHA, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—"Banned by the Board of Censors" was the cryptic sentence written across the cover of the 1931 Omaha Police Annual by "Proof Reader" Richard L. Metcalfe, better known as the Mayor.

Mayor Metcalfe's objections were based on advertisements contributed by owners of soft drink parlors, cigar stores and other places which have been raided regularly by police.

Delights Discouraged Men Despite Own Hopeless Plight

Laugh, clown, laugh!

It's easy to do, under a big top, with a bright chattering audience of children eating peanuts and drinking pink lemonade, and with half a dozen big acts going on in the rings. But it takes a real trouper to put on a laughing act before a room full of homeless men, as downhearted and unemployed as yourself.

That's what Eddie Boyce, famous clown known in big time as "Beans," did last night. No sawdust or cracking whip on the bare platform of the meeting room on the second floor of the Improvement of the Poor building in Duquesne Way.

A handful of men as heartsick and depressed as himself. Out of work, the circus season over, lonesome for a girl back home in Ohio, "Beans" put on an enormous pair of hands and feet, reddened his nose and painted his mouth into a grin and made them laugh.

'Constitution' Spared Hoover Economy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(INS.)—President Hoover, after a personal visit to the old frigate Constitution, assured Secretary of the Navy Adams the historic ship will not be permanently laid up as a part of his naval economy program.

Heaps of Gems and Gold Dowry for Caliph's Girls

NICE, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—A settlement involving heaps of shining gold and jewels of the East, such as bulged the eyes of Ali Baba and lured Columbus along the way to America, today paved the way for a wedding contract which may unite the world of Moslem millions.

A financial settlement was completed last night for the marriage of the two sons of the Nizam of Hyderabad, called the richest man in the world, to the daughter and the niece of the impoverished Caliph at Istanbul.

The agreement was made at a meeting of the agents of the two families. The meeting lasted a long time and there were reports that it might be prolonged indefinitely before a final agreement on the financial aspects of the nuptials was reached, but the accord was finally announced.

It was explained that, because eastern customs made it impossible to hold the wedding here, the ceremony would take place at Hyderabad some time in December.

Tradition demands that each bridegroom go on horseback to the house of his intended bride and wait before the door until he is given a signal to enter. Sometimes the signal is not given for 24 hours and bands play continuously during the interval.

The most impressive figure in Nice at the moment is a 400-pound historian whose task it is to check up on all the demands of the unions to complete the record for generations to come.

COLD WEATHER GRIPS WEST

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Throwing off its gentle mantle autmun got down to the business today of giving many widely separated sections of the nation tastes of bitter weather.

Snow, falling in an area reaching from Montana to Arizona left Kalispell, Mont., under a seven-inch blanket.

Cold winds drove temperatures downward throughout the district of the Rockies. It was 15 below on Pike's Peak with a 40-mile gale.

Slaying of Chum Laid to Youth, 16

OAK HILL, W. Va., Nov. 12.—(AP)—A 16-year-old boy today waived hearing to await action of the grand jury on a murder charge for the slaying of a 17-year-old companion during an argument about occupying the jumble seat of an automobile because of the cold.

Cecil Williams, 17, died at Mount Hope soon after he was stabbed in the leg with a pocket knife which state police said was wielded by Joseph Duncan, 16.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The crowds thought it was "an act" when they saw Angelo Volpe, a tailor at 1335 Arch street, struggling in his shop window with hands and feet tied and a gag in his mouth. MYSTERY GIRL SLAIN BY GANG

CRYSTAL LAKE, Ill., Nov. 12.—(INS)—Police and medical experts today sought the identity of a young woman, believed slain by gangsters, whose mutilated body was found burned near here in an old cloth bag filled with quicklime.

Detectives said there was little doubt that the girl had been slain by gangsters in the Fox Lake beer territory on Chicago's outskirts.

Coroner E. H. Cook, of McHenry County, after a preliminary examination of the body, said the victim was about 18. She was killed within the last month, the coroner declared.

The body, dug up from a shallow grave, had been dismembered with a surgical expertness, which added mystery to the case, Coroner Cook said.

ACCUSES MATE OF SHOOTING

Accused of firing a shotgun at his estranged wife as she fled with her daughter, Alice, aged 2 years, from their home at 1258 Lincoln avenue last night, Andrew Neumier, 29, was held for court today. He was charged with discharging and pointing firearms.

Mrs. Martha Neumier testified her husband tried to enter the portion of the house she occupies and when she fled to the home of a neighbor he followed and fired. Mrs. Neumier dropped to the porch with her baby and her husband fled, she said.

The prisoner denied the charge and said his wife became frightened at the backfire of his automobile.

Donaldson Declares 'Deb's' Disgrace Must Not Block Justice; Ridicules Defense

arrived at the Donaldson home in Wynnewood. Hannum, who is counsel for A. G. B. Lucas, a friend of the slain youth, is an uncle by marriage of Donaldson. Lucas was with Donaldson when he was shot, and is a material witness in the case.

The elder Allen said in a statement last night that young Donaldson had wronged his daughter and that the Donaldson family had refused to let their son marry her. The father said that Donaldson was "rude in my house, was rude toward my wife and rude toward me," He added:

"Donaldson was a powerful young man. He was a dominating young man. He had almost a superhuman control over my daughter, which continued up until last Friday night. Donaldson getting more defiant in his manner toward me and displaying greater proprietorship over my daughter each day."

He depicted Donaldson as a bully who had beaten both Edward and his younger brother for their remonstrances over his attentions to their sister and painted Edward himself as a gentle and delicate boy, aroused to desperation by Donaldson's blows and the knowledge of a wrong done his sister.

Meantime Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Donaldson, Jr., prepared to bury their son today.

An aunt of the dead youth, Mrs. Wharton I. Donaldson, made the only comment:

"Any attempt to besmirch the character of this dead boy will reflect only on those who make it. But if anyone wishes to libel his daughter or sister it is no concern of ours."

'Deb' Held in Spell Of Slain Admirer

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—(INS.)—The strange hypnotic power of Francis A. Donaldson III over 18-year-old Rose E. W. Allen, Quaker City debutante, continues from the grave.

The pretty young brunet, hits in the palatial suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Pearce, staring into space, impervious to the pleas of her friends that she speak some word of forgiveness to her father, who moves restlessly about in a room nearby. She expresses no desire to see and talk with her brother, Edward H. B. Allen, who awaits indictment for the murder of his sister's suitor.

She is still in the grip of that fascination which her father has likened to a "supernatural power," although her Svengali no longer lives and breathes. She moves and talks like one in a trance; her eyes, her ears, her thoughts are for Donaldson, the dynamic, full-blooded, impetuous Donaldson, whom Horace Allen, Rose's father, has called his daughter's betrayer.

OBJECTIONS UNDERSTOOD

That Donaldson and Miss Allen had a peculiar, eerie relationship was well known among the select group in which they moved. Friends of Allen have expressed their complete understanding of the boy's objections to his sister's affair with Donaldson.

Rose Allen, ever since she fell under the spell of this man who was eight years her senior, has been a different person, so different that her mother who died six months after she started going out with him, feared for her safety at his hands. Mrs. Allen begged her husband, just before her death, to keep Rose "safe." Perhaps she had fears for the girl's spiritual welfare as well as her physical safety.

But it was only last August that Rose went to Scranton, Pa., with her sweetheart, telling her father she had gone to the home of friends in Island Heights. Mr. Allen declared it was in Scranton that Donaldson betrayed Rose, not yet 18 years old. He said that when Rose admitted it, he went to discuss the matter with Francis A. Donaldson, Jr., the murdered man's father.

NOT TO VIEW BODY

The broad-shouldered figure that crumpled at the blast of Eddie Allen's shotgun on Monday night will be laid away, in all probability, without being viewed by Miss Allen, Mrs. Pearce said:

"I hardly think she will attend the funeral. I want to keep her quietly at home with me for a while. She is not in the care of a physician, but she is still suffering from shock."

The girl does not yet know that her father sacrificed her reputation in an attempt to save his son from the electric chair.

British Ship Laden With Malt Seized

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(INS.)—Capture of the British oil vessel Whichone, laden with 62 kegs of malt, on the high seas off the coast of Long Island, N. Y., was reported to the Department of Justice today.

At a point about 16 miles off the coast the vessel was sighted making contact with two small American boats.

Store Thefts Laid To Same Robbers

County detectives today blamed the looting of the Hartman hardware store, McKeesport, on the same robbers who ransacked the Stevens' hardware store in Vandergrift, Pa. Both stores were entered last night. The Vandergrift store yielded $350 cash and $1,650 in merchandise. The McKeesport loot was $1,500 in merchandise.

JOB INSURANCE FOE QUIZZED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(INS.)—Opposition of the Illinois Manufacturers Association to unemployment insurance was vigorously challenged by Senator Wagner (Dem.), of New York, today.

He asked James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the association, who was a witness before the Hebert Senate Committee investigating various methods of unemployment insurance, to state just what social legislation his organization ever favored. Donnelly replied:

"The state workmen's compensation law which the association sponsored."

Donnelly added that his association now is making a thorough study of old-age pensions and had sponsored such an inquiry at the last State Legislature.

8 FLEE FIRE OVER ROOF

A family of eight persons early today clambered to safety over a kitchen roof when smoke from a fire on the first floor of their home filled their sleeping quarters on the second floor of the dwelling at 2582 Brownsville road. Among those who reached the roof through a small window, was Mrs. Emma Levic, 25, who carried with her, her three-month-old baby, Cleodine.

The structure is occupied on the first floor by the fruit store of Angelo Valdiserri, 40, which also is used as a ticket office and waiting room by the Brentwood-Carrick bus line. Valdiserri and his family reside on the second floor. Members of the family include his wife, Lorina, 38; his son, Silas, 20, and his daughters, Nell, 21; Angeline, 19; Lillian, 15, and Mrs. Levic and Mrs. Levic's daughter.

Rivera's Son Freed Of Plot Charges

MADRID, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—Juan Antonio Primo de Rivera, son of the late dictator, was released last night after he had been held for investigation of charges of anti-republican activity.

Reports that his arrest resulted from a monarchist plot were exaggerated, Angel Galarza, director of public safety, said. Galarza also denied that the arrest had any connection with "anti-republican activities" of Commander Francisco Rosales and Andres de las Marias, a priest of the Madrid Cathedral, both of whom were still in jail.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 12.—(AP.)—The suit of Harry, Sophie, Peter and John Daykon, of Pittsburgh, against the New York, Ontario and Western Railroad Company, in Federal Court here, was halted today when one of the jurors, Mrs. Mary G. Evans, of Sunbury, was stricken ill. Attorneys for both sides agreed to proceed with 11 jurors.

The Daykons are asking $150,000 damages for injuries suffered at Olyphant, Pa., in 1930, when their automobile was struck by a train.

Congressman Beck called upon the next Congress to "bury the present experiment in governmental socialism beyond the possibility of resurrection."

Stray Bullet Kills Girl Driving Pupils

JACKMAN, Me., Nov. 12.—(INS.)—Shot through the heart by a stray bullet from a hunter's rifle, while driving seven children home from school in a wagon, Miss Florence Barreault, 19, of Fork Farms, near here, was killed.

Raiding Police Head Forced to Resign

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—Col. Hu B. Myers has resigned as superintendent of the New Orleans police department. Myers' resignation came after an attack from politicians who claimed he was not eligible to hold the office as he had not resided in New Orleans the legally required 10 years.

Indian Woman Sues Baptist Home Group

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(INS.)—Mrs. Suma Burgess, a full-blooded Creek Indian of Oklahoma, brought suit in the United States District Court here to recover $100,000 from the American Baptist Home Missions Society.

Mrs. Burgess charged that she and her mother, Lucy Poloko, who died in 1928, were defrauded out of bonds valued at $100,000, which were given to the society in 1923 as a loan. She also declared that Albert B. Fall, then secretary of the interior, signed and approved the grant.

Remember what gorgeous hats you got in those sales that Horne's used to hold about Thanksgiving time? History repeats itself tomorrow, when about 500 hats, including copies and adaptations of Paris models, from our Modern Salon, will make one of the most impressive and interesting millinery sales we have held in years.

Street and afternoon hats of superior felts, velours and soleil, which will harmonize with the gracious fabrics and rich fur trimmings of fine winter coats; in black and the season's fashionable colors. In models so varied and headsizes so graded, that everyone can be accommodated.

Because of the nature of the event, with many of the hats individual models, we issue the time-honored admonition, "Come early."

CLOTHING GIVEN IN WILMERDING

Food and clothing gathered for unemployed persons of Wilmerding by the American Legion, Y. M. C. A., and the Golden Rule Association were to be distributed today at the Legion headquarters in the borough.

Workers headed by Clarence Crux solicited the food and clothing from residents of the borough. Final reports on the campaign were made at last night's Armistice Day reception in the Legion headquarters.

During the reception the collection of supplies was placed on display. Officers of the campaign said it was most successful and a large amount of needed articles was obtained.

Tortured Girl Fed on Scraps Left by Dog

years, and lately he was taught to guard the door of the closet in which Edith was kept."

Frances spoke without any fear of the beatings his father allegedly threatened him with if he talked about his home life. He talked freely because he was safe in the home of his young and attractive aunt, Mrs. Louise Hall, where he pleaded to be sent.

Judge Katherine Sellers, Juvenile Court, ordered him committed to the care of the aunt. He had pathetically appealed:

"Please don't send me back to that home, nor to the Welfare Industrial Home. I am afraid to go home and the Welfare home is terrible. They make you wear night gowns and put on dresses. I want to be with my aunt, where I can play and go out when I want to."

Edith, too, awoke today assured of safety from abuse at the hands of her stepmother. Judge Sellers decreed that she should remain under the care of the Child Welfare Bureau and that a home be found for her, when and if her health improves sufficiently.

Still wan and wasted, Edith was just beginning to show interest in the playthings which a normal girl of 13 starts to forget.

She loved, for the first time with a little celluloid doll. She also asked for a jar of water, "with things swimming." This was prompted by the picture of a gold-fish bowl.

Chance for Recovery Of Closet Girl Seen

By MARGARET LANE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(INS)—There is just a chance that little Edith Riley, the "that baby" who has just been rescued from four years' alleged imprisonment, starvation and abuse, may in time recover her lost mind and become like other children.

That is the opinion of Dr. Joseph L. Gilbert, the psychologist investigating her pitiful case at Gallinger Hospital here. He said:

"It is too early to say whether she may have been mentally defective from birth. Hers is a strange case. In all my experience I have encountered nothing like it.

GIVES CLEAR REPLIES

"Only occasionally, when you speak to her, do your words seem to penetrate her brain, and then she gives you clear sensible answers. Most of the time she is entirely withdrawn from you, and absorbed in something we cannot see. Sometimes she laughs suddenly for no apparent reason—a loud, uncanny laugh, utterly unlike a child.

"There is no doubt that, if she had continued to suffer the kind of life she is supposed to have lived, she would have died prematurely in a few years. Now, with care, good food and affectionate treatment, she may even recover—though it is a remote hope. Still, she has gained nearly a pound a day since she was brought into the hospital last Friday."

WANTS MOUTH ORGAN

In the hospital we asked her if she would like us to go away. Without moving her eyes from the doll she shook her head slightly. "M'mm," she said. "Shall we come again tomorrow?" "M'mm." It might have meant anything. Then:

"Is there anything you would like us to bring you, Edith?"

Sudden and clear came the answer:

"A mouth organ."

Mellon Registers After Failure to Cast Vote

W. L. Mellon, former state Republican chairman, once more is eligible to vote. Mellon, who on general election day was denied the right to vote because of his failure to register, called at the Pittsburgh Registration Board's office Tuesday and had his name placed on the rolls. He is now eligible to vote in the spring primary, at which time delegates will be selected for the Republican national convention. Mellon said he was out of the city on the three registration days.

Have you what is commonly called that Tired Feeling?

"Mother, I do wish you were well and strong"

Why you should be interested in your Blood Count

It is a great protection to health and physical well being to keep the red blood cell count up to normal. These cells build and sustain—they also remove impurities.

(Left) Microscopic view of healthy red blood cells. The blood stream should contain about 5,000,000 of these cells to the cubic millimeter. They carry nourishment and oxygen to every part of the body—they also remove impurities from the tissues.

(Right) Weak red blood cells—only 60 per cent of normal strength—they lack the power to resist infection and disease or to rebuild flesh and to carry away the impurities. Such a condition is often responsible for body weakness, paleness, sallow complexion, pimples and boils.

Don't let them count you out!

So often the reason is simple—that good body of ours has "run-down" under the strain of our way of living . . . pressure of work and worry.

Those important precious red-blood-cells that mean so much to vitality become lowered in count . . . the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter."

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning . . . so are pimples, boils and paleness. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease.

Sometimes it is a lagging appetite that leads to underweight and ill health in various manifestations.

You cannot be low in strength and be happy—let's be happy.

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial.

You should know that S.S.S. has the distinct advantage of being composed of fresh vegetable medicinal ingredients in concentrated form . . . it is Mother Nature's formula.

Chile Confronted With Cabinet Crisis

VALPARAISO, Chile, Nov. 12.—With three ministerial resignations threatened, the government faced a cabinet crisis following the army's "recommendation" that Ex-President Ibanez be not removed from the army list as contemplated by the government.

This action against Ibanez would mean his loss of pension. The army is further reported to be opposed to a bill aimed at preventing re-establishment of a dictatorship, such as Ibanez wielded before his overthrow.

DRY SHIFT HELD KEY TO BOOM

BIEBER, Cal., Nov. 12.—(Universal.)—The modification of prohibition would go a great way toward ending the depression.

I believe the worst of the present crisis was reached about three weeks ago.

Don't expect business to recover in a hurry. It will be a long pull.

These were the statements here of Arthur Curtiss James, largest individual holder of railway securities in the country and the man behind the scenes in forcing the California link between the Great Northern and Western Pacific railroads.

In speaking of prohibition James declared:

"I may be making an unpopular statement but I believe the modification of the Eighteenth Amendment would help materially in bringing back better times.

"In addition, it would halt this terrible wave of lawlessness and crime which has swept our country."

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

NOTICE TO SPORTSMEN
OPEN SEASON FOR LEGAL DEER—SEASON 1931

The Pennsylvania Board of Game Commissioners at a meeting held October 20th, 1931, acting under authority granted by Sections 301 and 303 of the Act of 1929, approved May 24, 1929, P. L. 2399, as amended, passed the following resolution:

"It was moved, seconded and unanimously carried that an open season be declared on both sexes of deer in each county of the state from December 1st to December 19th, 1931, inclusive, Sundays excepted, and that the bag limit shall be one deer per man, provided that not more than six deer shall be taken by one camp or hunting party, and further provided that every antlerless deer so taken shall weigh at least 40 pounds with entrails removed."

Legal notice is hereby given that an open season on deer without visible antlers or horns, of at least 40 pounds weight with entrails removed, is declared from December 1st to December 19th, inclusive, Sundays excepted, in Allegheny County, situated in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The above resolution does not change the open season on male deer with two or more points to one antler from December 1st to December 15th, nor the bag limit of one deer per man or six deer by hunting party, as fixed by the Legislature.

A Pennsylvania hunting license, either resident or non-resident, legally issued, is valid in all counties of the Commonwealth and in the only license required to take a legal deer which is either a male deer with two or more points to one antler or a deer without visible antlers or horns of at least 40 pounds weight with entrails removed.

Richard Barthelmess Gets 'Cabin in the Cotton,' Novel by Kroll

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 12.

A story that calls to mind the classic "Tol'able David" has just been purchased by Warner Brothers for Dick Barthelmess.

It is "The Cabin in the Cotton," a novel by Harry Harrison Kroll dealing with life in a white trash community of Mississippi. I don't know that the story has any further resemblance to "Tol'able David" but I thought of the earlier picture as soon as I learned the news.

Richard Barthelmess

Dick will film the Kroll novel after he completes "Alias the Doctor." Of course it will reach the screen under a different title.

Jack Falstaff Makes Hit, So Does Autolycus, At the Nixon

By GEORGE SEIBEL

The oldest of the ancient gallery gods does not remember a performance of Shakespeare's "Henry IV" in Pittsburgh, so history was made last night at the Nixon Theater when the players from Stratford presented this historical comedy or comical history—which they did in magnificent style with that roystering rogue Jack Falstaff as the real king of England. Say what you will, this greasy liar and coward, this glutton and scoundrel, actually seems a better man than Prince Hal, who afterward becomes Henry V, Shakespeare's pet hero. W. D. Howells once confessed that he preferred Falstaff to Hamlet—and Howells was an honest man though a novelist.

George Seibel

Roy Byford was again the fat knight, this time in a happier set of circumstances than in "The Merry Wives of Windsor." At the head of his ragged regiment, with red noses and spavined limbs, he gave a rich impersonation of the greatest humorous figure in English literature, not excepting Mr. Pickwick. I saw Otis Skinner in this same play, during a revival by the Players Club in New York, and Byford need not shun any comparison. Roast beef and Yorkshire pudding and an intolerable deal of sack he translates into Gargantuan laughter. His Falstaff is a masterpiece.

FIGURES FROM HISTORY

It is known that Shakespeare encountered something like a libel suit when he first called his hero Sir John Oldcastle, so he changed the name and assured his public that this was another man. But the other principal figures in the play are historic. Randle Ayrton was a dignified and royal Henry, putting true pathos into the scene with his son, and Stanley Howlett was an Owen Glendower who could "call spirits from the vasty deep." But of course the bright particular star of the cast is always Harry Hotspur, who was played by Gyles Isham. He was the very image of chivalry, a heroic figure without bluster, ringing true to his death. And close behind him came Eric Maxon as the Prince of Wales, while Kenneth Wicksteed as the bottle-nosed Bardolph made a rich foil to Sir John.

Of the women, who have little to do, Ethel Harper as the hostess of the Boar's Head and Dorothy Francis as Glendower's Welsh-speaking daughter deserve particular praise.

"Henry IV" was in every way the finest performance of the whole week so far.

"WINTER'S TALE" WELL DONE

At the matinee performance "A Winter's Tale" was played in most agreeable fashion. This drama—tragedy in its first half, comedy in the second—has not been seen here for many years. It was about 1905 when Viola Allen played it, assuming the roles of both Hermione and Perdita, mother and daughter. Before that, or shortly after, Frederick Warde, Louis James and Kathryn Kidder came here with a somewhat spectacular version. To nearly everybody yesterday's performance was a new play.

Bruno Barnabe as the rogue Autolycus, "snatcher-up of unconsidered trifles," carried off the honors of this revival. Gyles Isham as Prince Florizel and Hilda Coxhead as Perdita made a joyously romantic pair. Ayrton's Leontes coped well with the inherent difficulties of this role, and Miriam Leighton again gave a vivid miniature as Prince Mamillius, earning the apple she afterward consumed as a shepherd lass.

Indeed the only grave oversight was the lack of a bear to devour poor Antigonus—but then Shakespeare had the bear garden close to his theater and the Nixon is far away from the zoo. Which makes the lack bearable—Shakespeare will pardon the pun!

From Radio

Mrs. Phillips Lord, known to radio listeners as "Liz," appears in support of her husband, "Seth Parker," in "Way Back Home," which comes to the Warner Saturday.

Plays, Players and By-Play

—By WILLIAM J. LEWIS—

"Tomorrow And Tomorrow," to be presented by Gilbert Miller in the Nixon next week as the second play in the Theater Guild series, is described by its author, Philip Barry, as "The romance of a fine woman's adjustment to life," which may explain why one "tomorrow" isn't enough. Be that as it may, the lads in the box office will attend to ticket shoppers today, tomorrow and tomorrow's tomorrow. Glenn Anders and Zita Johann and Harvey Stephens will be chief players.

Small Timer says it is better to bat 300 in the bush league than 971's in the majors.

"The Good Fairy" will bring Helen Hayes to the Alvin next week, but we hardly expect her to arrive in a coach made from a pumpkin. The occasion will be the second event in the Professional Players series, and this one also is presented by the above-mentioned Gilbert Miller. Since there is one role that he wants to see played right, Gil will portray it himself on the opening night. Bartering for admission will take place at the b. o. from today on.

Small Timer says there is one thing in which steel never will displace wood, and that is heads.

Thurston Hall, resident Pittsburgher during several periods when he was a favorite stock actor here, was in town t'other day and mingled with a few old friends. Mr. Hall played here as leading man in no less than three stock companies, the Harry Davis, his own, in the Sam S. Shubert Theater, later renamed the Aldine, and in George Sharp's, which is something of a record. He is eating regularly now, though. The air waves have claimed him for their own. His home station is WABC, key studio of the Columbia Broadcasting System, and he is featured in the magazine hour, locally earable at 9:15 Friday evenings via WJAS.

Small Timer denies that all men lie, saying that some are single and don't have to.

* * *

Thanksgiving week will find musical attractions in both legitimate houses. "The Wonder Bar," with Al Jolson, will be in the Alvin. "Three's a Crowd," alias Fred Allen, Libby Holman and Clifton Webb, will be the Nixon offering.

SPECIAL GUARDS FOR BIG KOMIC CLUB SHOW

Record Crowd Expected At Sunday Performance; Program Is Completed

From all indications, the Stanley Theater will be filled to capacity Sunday afternoon, with members of the 13 chapters of the Warner Theaters-Sun-Telegraph Junior Komic Club. This special treat has been arranged for members who have faithfully attended the weekly meetings at their neighborhood theaters on Saturday mornings.

It is most important that every member attend the meeting of his or her chapter Saturday morning, November 14. At that time the attendance cards which have been stamped at each meeting will be exchanged for admission tickets to the big show at the Stanley Sunday afternoon. No child will be admitted without one of these tickets.

Members from the 13 chapters will assemble at 1:45 Sunday afternoon in front of the Sun-Telegraph Building, Telegraph Square, Bigelow boulevard. Children coming in street cars will get off at Grant and Sixth avenue.

SAFETY ASSURED

Every precaution has been taken for the safety of the children attending the big party. A corps of 50 special officers has been arranged for, and these officers together with representatives from the Sun-Telegraph and the Warner Theaters, will look after the children.

The grand jesters and boards of governors of each of the chapters will take their places on the big stage of the Stanley Theater before the meeting opens. They will lead the meeting in the reading of the club pledge. This will be followed by the pledge of allegiance to the flag, the singing of "America," and other ceremonies.

FEATURE PICTURE

Then the festivities will begin! There will be a special feature picture, that has never before been shown in Pittsburgh, a hilarious comedy, and song reels. The stage entertainment will consist of musical and comedy acts, and there will be a souvenir for every child.

In addition to all the features that have been mentioned, there will be surprises that cannot be divulged.

Be sure to attend your chapter meeting Saturday morning to receive your admission ticket to the Stanley show.

Children Periled When Wires Fall

Half a dozen children narrowly escaped injury late yesterday when three wires of the Duquesne Light Company, carrying 22,000 volts, and running from the Ambridge sub-station to the Riter-Conley Company plant, in Leetsdale, fell near them while they were playing in Washington street, Leetsdale.

Police said boys threw wet weeds onto the wires, causing them to break. The accident resulted in a tieup of activities in the plant for about an hour.

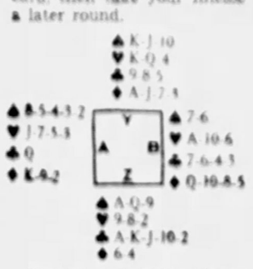
Contract Bridge -:-

OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

When to Finesse

Avoid unnecessary finesses. When a finesse must be taken, if possible first play a winning card, then take your finesse on a later round.



More than half the players in a duplicate game failed to fulfill a game contract with the above hand, because they disregarded the warning contained in the rule against finessing on the first round of a suit.

Z bid 1-Club; Y shifted to 1-Diamond; Z rebid clubs, and Y ended contracting with 3-No Trumps.

The opening lead was B's fourth-best diamond, offering a fourchette to dummy; B's 5 was covered with Z's 6; A played his K, and Y played his A, trusting his well-guarded J would again stop diamonds. Of course every player in Y's position led back his 9 of clubs. Those who failed going game did so because they did not overtake their first lead of clubs with the K; those who went game did so because they did not overtake their first lead of clubs with the K; those who went game put up their K and dropped the lone Q.

The unfortunate losers to the lone Q had led through their diamonds the 9, followed by the 2, enabling B to win three tricks in his suit; that with the one club trick and a later heart trick, put the declarer down one trick.

The more careful players who put up dummy's king on the first lead of clubs and dropped the Q, ran off five club tricks and three spade tricks, a total of nine tricks, including the diamond trick taken on the opening lead. Last of all, Y led his K of hearts, putting B in the lead with the Ace. Those who were smart, sitting in B's position shot back a heart lead, obliging Y to give them the last two tricks, either in diamonds or to their partners who held winning hearts and spades. Those who were not such smart B's laid down their Q of diamonds and had to end by giving Y both a diamond and a heart trick.

There was a painful difference between making either four-odd or five-odd through correct play of clubs, and making only two-odd on account of incorrect strategy. Moreover, nearly every partner sitting in Z's position was unkind enough to tell what was thought of the poor strategy.

55 American Pupils Enter Soviet School

MOSCOW, Nov. 12.—(INS.)—Fifty-five American children, sons and daughters of American residents of Moscow, were registered yesterday as pupils in a new Soviet school which opens today.

The children, ranging in age from 10 to 16, will receive general elementary instruction under supervision of Russian educational authorities.

COOKS IN 9 MINUTES' BOILING

"It cooks up better"

CAN you please the severe food-critic in the high chair and bib? You will need to know your groceries—or, what is simpler, know your Mueller's Elbow Macaroni.

Don't try to please children with "just any macaroni". There's a special, tempting quality in the taste of Mueller's Elbow Macaroni that makes coaxing unnecessary. And the elbow shape makes it so easy to eat.

Also, (a vital point with children) it is more digestible, and higher in nutrition, than any other brand. It cooks up better. The special Mueller processes were especially planned to assure these qualities after 9 minutes' boiling.

Let the children have a treat today! Your grocer has Mueller's, or can get it for you.

Little Folks Like This

Elbow Macaroni and Cheese Surprise

1 pkg. Mueller's Elbow Macaroni
3 cups milk
1½ cups grated cheese
3 tablespoons butter
3 eggs, well beaten
1½ teaspoons salt

Place elbow macaroni (uncooked) into flat, buttered pan and pour milk over it. Soak three hours. Then season with salt and cover with grated cheese. Dot with butter and pour well-beaten eggs on top. Bake in moderate oven 40 min. or until well set. Cut in squares and remove from pan. Serve hot.

THE LOUDSPEAKER — By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Patron saints of the broadcasters continue to be Victor Herbert and Sir Arthur Sullivan. There may be a bowing and scraping to Beethoven and Tschaikowsky, to the little boy blues of Tin Pan Alley, to those who can find a new use for the words "love" and "moon," but in the background are Herbert and Sullivan, always on tap, always ready and reliable when a program needs life pumped into it.

Over and over and over you hear them. Their graceful, charming, vivid music has been wafted so often into the ether that even Mars must be familiar with it. Yet it never grows stale.

If anything, Herbert bulks a little larger in the scene if only because he wrote a luscious melody, called "Kiss Me Again." This piece, warbled by every singer above the rank of burleycue, has become as sure fire to radio as the flag once was to a Broadway revue. Listeners never tune it out. It invariably brings a pause to bridge-bickering, cocktail-shaking, newspaper-rattling.

Broadcasters, searching for novelty, have pounced upon Herbert and Sullivan. You'd never think it, would you. Yet here are dancebands, tossing aside their hot-cha-chas to air the more haunting of Herbert's melodies, and actors, impersonating a young married couple, are heard in a radio act rehearsing their roles in Gilbert and Sullivan operas.

Maestros of radio most experienced in interpreting Herbert are Harold Sanford and George Hall. Both were associated for years with the composer. Sanford, today, conducts concert orchestras in the radio salons, leads his old master to frequent airings. Hall directs a dance band at the Taft Hotel, works in his spare time on arrangements of Herbert as a means of satisfying dancers a little fed up with the hosannas of Broadway.

With all the homage that is paid Herbert and Sullivan in radio programs it seems only fitting that the microphone mahatmas should erect statues to their patron saints. Yet, they delay.

If they can take precious time to broadcast bust unveilings in Virginia—will there ever be an end to them?—they ought to make an effort to set up busts in their velvety suites of the two men who have saved more broadcast programs than any other figures who ever sailed into the radio sea.

77 Organizations Under One Banner

Do you remember a typical year before the Welfare Fund was formed?—the multiplicity of fund appeals, the waste effort and money and time, the bewildering pageant of "worthy cause" forever treading on each other's heels?

Each, however, was the physical symbol of an ideal, called into being by an individual or group eager to meet a need . . . whether that may happen to be the care of children, better health for mothers and babies, outdoor life for alley-cramped youngsters, or understanding guidance of growing boys and girls.

Today—with a few notable exceptions—practically every one of these agencies is a member of the Welfare Fund. The same public which supported them from the start brought about the change. It wanted every dollar to go the longest distance and it wanted to be sure that services did not overlap. The Welfare Fund is nothing more than a sensible coalition of all these fine human enterprises created by the public. That's all.

Now in its fourth year, the Welfare Fund has grown to include 77 distinct organizations. Its budget this year is greater because it covers more agencies, although the relative cost to the public is much lower. Today we accept the Welfare Fund as the sensible way to under-write work that has to be done. One big campaign, for a joint objective, and financial uncertainty is over for the year . . . leaving personnel free in all 77 organizations to do the work for which they were engaged . . . leaving public leadership free from the incessant worry and waste of nearly a hundred conflicting appeals.

These 77 organizations, whose individual identity is never obscured, form so long a roster that they can't always be mentioned individually in the stress of the year's campaign. But don't forget that they are the Welfare Fund. That's what the Welfare Fund is.

Joined with the effort of the Allegheny County Emergency Association, the Welfare Fund's agencies, county-wide in scope, ask your generous help this year in raising $5,981,184—the very least amount needed—to carry on this work through a most critical period, and for the direct relief and employment program which must save at least 15,000 families from despair.

We'll see them through—if you will!

Don't misjudge your ability to help by what you can give today. Give as large an amount as you can pay over a period of months—the months through which the money will be needed. Six months. Eight months. Write your own ticket! But give with full vision as to the job to be accomplished. And interpret in your gift your prospects for better times ahead. We shall have to do that, to reach our goal.

SETH PARKER'S PICTURE

By Darrell V. Martin
Radio Editor

SETH PARKER'S motion picture, "Way Down Home," which opens Saturday at a downtown cinema, is a perfect delineation of the radio feature, "Sunday Night at Seth Parker's" . . . the characters, particularly, measured up to our imagination in a preview last night, and there's the same New England philosophy, humor and pathos that make the Sunday night "githerings" linger in the memories of listeners long after the Jonesport folks have departed the home of Ma and Seth Parker. . . Cefus, Lizzie, Ma and Seth are most impressive although the entire cast does superb work . . . a bit of romance, not too far drawn, adds spice to the theme.

Medal to Holbrook

John Holbrook, virtually an unknown, was awarded the Medal for Good Radio Diction by the Academy of Arts and Sciences today. Holbrook takes his place in the hall of radio fame with Milton J. Cross and Alwyn Bach, who have been awarded the medal in past years.

Holbrook has been with the National Broadcasting Company a comparatively short time. His best known program is that of the "Three Bakers" on WJZ-KDKA Sunday night.

David Ross, who was mentioned most as the probable winner, was given honorable mention.

Question a Day:

Who was the first sports reporter on the air?—B. D. K., Edgar Thomson Works.

Answer—The honor goes to Flo Gibson; who announced the first fight over KDKA 'way back in pioneer days. Flo is a local newspaperman. He preceded other radio sports announcers by almost a year.

Saturday will be West Point Day at WJAS . . . in addition to broadcasting the Army-Pitt game and the formal dance in the evening, arrangements were made last night to radio a description of the parade Saturday morning at 9 o'clock with Ted Husing and many notables at the microphone.

Studio Lights:

When an announcer misses a program at NBC in Chicago he is penalized with the 8 o'clock broadcast on Sunday morning . . . the idea is proving effective . . .

Russ Columbo has written four ballads soon to be published . . . they are "You Captured My Heart," "My True Story," "Prisoner of Love" and "Only a Voice on the Air" . . .

KOIL at Council Bluffs, Neb., becomes an NBC blue chain outlet on December 15 . . .

Wonder if it's true that H. Worden (Hack) Wilson, NBC operator, does those excellent impersonations on CBS-WJAS every Friday night at 9?

Benny Friedman, former star Michigan quarterback, is to help Graham McNamee with the Navy-Notre Dame game on NBC-WCAE Saturday . . .

Sponsors of the Music Drama (WCAE at 9 tonight) proposed dropping it for a popular program and sent out letters to get the reaction of listeners . . . so far 33,000 letters have been received urging continuation of the classical . . .

"Beyond the Moon" is to be played by The Travelers on KDKA at 6:15 tonight expressly for a colony of 100 construction men located near Cairo, Egypt . . .

Lanny Ross, the young attorney who found more money on the radio than in the courtroom, sings "My Heart Stood Still" on KDKA at 9:30 tonight . . .

Fred Ibbett, of the British Broadcasting Company, who originated the ether-wave train effect used successfully by the Empire Builders, has been signed as production manager by WBBM . . . Ibbett's miniature train is timed to strike the spaces between the rails with exactly the same frequency as a real train, running over real rails . . .

We're falling hard for Neal Mowry, whose tenor undulations beam on Pittsburgh airwaves like the blinking of a lighthouse . . .

Ever know that Frank Crumit's crazy piece, "Abdul Abulbul Amir," was first used as a marching song by troops during the Crimean War?

John Philip Sousa knows better than anyone that you can't eat your cake and have it, too . . . so he refused to cut a birthday cake for photographers on his seventy-seventh anniversary, confiding afterward that the cake was to grace the table of his home . . .

Ed Harvey, whose Armistice Day feature on KDKA Tuesday night drew more telephone calls than any local program we've heard, springs a tale about H. W. Holman, junior production man at Chicago NBC . . . Ed says Holman has a yen for China because he lived in Shanghai eight years.

Today's Tid-Bit:

John Tio, a native of Central Africa—the Belgian Congo, to be exact—said what he thought of Broadway girls, whistled for his listeners, counted to four and even did a little crooning over NBC the other day. John is a parrot 2 years old, speaks with a Scottish burr and refused to have his equanimity upset by a host of curious announcers, engineers, page boys and others that crowded into the control room for the broadcast.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To quickly end stubborn coughs due to colds, it is important to soothe the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, saves money, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

U. S. Arrests 44 In Alien Racket

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. (AP.)—Forty-four persons have been rounded up on charges of smuggling aliens since the Labor Department started its drive three months ago to break up this type of racketeering.

Murray W. Garsson, special assistant to Secretary Doak, said today that since leaving New York, where 27 men were arrested in connection with the alien racket, eight persons had been indicted in Detroit, seven in Chicago and two in Philadelphia.

MUSIC

The Beggar's Opera

Carnegie Music Hall

John Gay's "The Beggar's Opera" entertained a holiday audience at Carnegie Music Hall last night. After 200 years its lyrics are as pretty and fresh as when first written and its nature as applicable to the carryings-on in the theater and political world today as then.

Mr. Lissfelt

It was my good fortune to hear the comments that first sang the revival of this opera at Hammersmith in London. Last night's singers did not profit by comparison with those delightful players but with the company that last sang the same music here. Then playing however was spirited; they parodied the affectations of singers and actors with real humor. The simple convertible setting was adequate and the costumes not startling.

The small orchestra was well composed though simply but the leader allowed too many of the singers and players to have rhythms in their own hands. Elsie French's Diana Trapes, Sylvia Nelis' Polly Peacham and Vera Hurst's Lucy Lockit were good characterizations and kept the show moving.

SUPPLY OFFICES MAY MOVE

Leasing by the Oil Well Supply Company of a five story building in Dallas, Tex., for occupancy February 1, has caused much speculation here. Some time ago the supply company was taken over by the United States Steel Corporation.

At the local offices of the supply company it was said plans were not fully matured, though it was believed some of the Pittsburgh and Tulsa offices may move to Dallas.

Hunter Lights Cigaret, Loses His Rabbit

Three Baldwin Township volunteer firemen are being joshed by their friends today over an incident which occurred while the men were hunting in Mercer County. The dogs of Otto Schultz, Martin Ellslager and Edward Tusch chased a rabbit into a hole. The men put down their guns, chained the dogs nearby and began to dig. Schultz and Tusch were digging and Ellslager was to grab the rabbit if it attempted to escape. After an hour's work, they eased their work, and while Ellslager was lighting a cigaret, the rabbit bolted.

Loses 16 Pounds of Fat—Eats as Usual

Fat Folks—Here's More Proof—One Bottle of Kruschen Salts and Sixteen Pounds Gone—Eats as Usual—Sleeps Better—Costs 85 Cents

Modern Science now makes it possible for you to easily and what's best, to SAFELY obtain a slender free-from-fat figure and actually enjoy exhilarated health and increase your attractiveness while doing so.

Simply take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—you can hasten the reducing action of Kruschen by going lighter on potatoes, fatty meats and pastries.

Mrs. Ethel Smith of Norwich, Conn., writes: "I lost 16 lbs. with my first bottle of Kruschen. I feel so good in many ways. Being on night duty, it was hard to sleep days but now since I am taking Kruschen I sleep plenty, eat as usual and lose fat too. I have told 7 of my friends about Kruschen and they find it as I do."

Unlike other salts, Kruschen doesn't aim to reduce by rushing food thru the system—rather it's a superbly blended combination of SIX separate mineral salts which help glands and body organs to function properly—that's why it's so amazingly successful in cases where everything else has failed!

Get an 85c bottle of KRUSCHEN SALTS (lasts 4 weeks). If this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so gloriously energetic—vigorously alive—your money gladly returned.

Nature did not mean women to suffer so cruelly. If they would only try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound! It has befriended women against their "peculiar" troubles for over 50 years.

ALL IN A DAY

By MARK HELLINGER

Gratitude a la Broadway

STEP UP and shake hands with Mr. William Grady, a genial gentleman with an Irish map and a doubting nature. Mr. Grady is of the Broadway clan that refers to its members as artists' representatives. Other people are not so particular.

Several years ago Mr. Grady was the agent for an actor who was the Rudy Vallee of his day. I don't mean he hiccoughed into a radio; the radio was then nothing more than guesswork. This gentleman—a truly handsome devil, incidentally—stood upon a stage and sang love songs. He sang them so tenderly and beautifully that the women had to hold each other back from rushing up on the stage. I feel that I might call him Cyril in this yarn, even though that's a dirty trick to play on a guy who can't hit back.

At any rate, Cyril was such a man as to make strong husbands groan with jealousy. When he stepped from the stage door, women of all ages crowded around and sent heavy sighs in his direction. The papers printed romantic tales about him and the managers vied with one another in order to get his signature upon a contract.

Accordingly, it is easy to understand that Mr. Grady gazed upon Cyril with tender eyes. Each week that Cyril received a salary, Mr. Grady was entitled to—and received, I might add—10 per cent of said salary. Small wonder that the agent looked upon his star as a loving mother looks upon her only child.

There, then, was an association that all Broadway talked about and respected. Never did an actor enjoy better representation than Mr. Grady offered Cyril.

It seems that Cyril had a sweetie. You might tell me that, inasmuch as Cyril had a wife and two children, he had no business to have a sweetie. And I would certainly agree with you.

And what a sweetie! She must have been a second cousin to Lupe Velez. When this damsel grew angry, nothing could stop her. She thought nothing of blackening Cyril's eyes when she felt in the mood, and she counted that day lost when she didn't throw a plate at him.

Eventually, the situation grew so bad that Cyril felt something had to be done. He went at once to his agent.

"Bill," he asserted, "there must be something you can do. This woman threatens to ruin my career. She says she will sue me. She says she will expose me. She says terrible things."

Mr. Grady soothed his greatest artist. He smiled a Broadway smile. And don't ask me what a Broadway smile is, because I haven't the slightest idea.

"I wouldn't worry too much if I were you, Cyril," he murmured. "Just keep out of the way. She hasn't any letter, of course?"

Cyril moaned.

"That's just it," he cried. "She has dozens of my letters. Long, passionate letters, too, as only I can write them. She swears she's going to sell them to a syndicate."

Mr. Grady seconded the groan. Then, of a sudden, he went into action. He grabbed his hat.

"I'm going over to see her," he announced. "We've got to get those letters back, regardless of the cost. She can't ruin us this way" . . .

On one point the lady was extremely insistent. She was going to publish those letters and make Cyril the jest of the country. That would be her revenge, hissed the villainess. And it was only when Mr. Grady began to talk cash that the sweetie changed her tone.

Yes, she said, she would listen to reason—as long as the reason was in excess of $25,000. Mr. Grady immediately countered with the reply that, if there was that much money in the world, his education was not yet complete. In the end, after this and that and that and this, the girl agreed to accept $2,500 in cash—and $5,000 to be paid within six months.

The agent was taking no chances. He rushed around to his bank and drew out $2,500 in cash, leaving himself a balance of some $75. He went back to the lady's home, signed an agreement, gave her the cash, took the letters and returned to his office.

"Here you are, Cyril," he announced. "It was the best and the easiest way. Just send me over your check for $2,500 when you get the time."

"God bless you, Bill," cried the actor fervently. "God bless you."

Cyril never paid that $2,500—and Mr. Grady now knows that he never will. It was the end of a truly beautiful friendship. Within a week after the transaction Cyril was ducking his agent upon the street. Mr. Grady wanted that money, and he wanted it badly. When he felt certain that the dough could be obtained only by desperate measures, he got himself a sheriff and appeared at the theater where Cyril was playing.

Mr. Grady grimly sent word that he was waiting downstairs. A few moments later down came Cyril's valet with a gold cigaret case in his hand. He handed it to Mr. Grady and spoke soothing words.

"Mr. Cyril asks you to accept this as a little gift," he whispered, "and he asks you to wait just a few days more. He asks you please to do that for him."

The agent looked at this fine attractive case. Could he arrest an old pal who had given him such a grand gift? Certainly not. He turned to the sheriff and said he had decided to wait another week.

That night, at midnight, Cyril sailed for Europe . . .

Mr. Grady still carries that cigaret case with him. He will tell you that it's the only $200 cigaret case in the world that cost $2,500.

The part he doesn't like to tell is that it really cost him $2,700. Because, two weeks after Cyril sailed the concern in which the case was bought billed Mr. Grady for the article. Cyril had neglected to pay for it.

There May be Poison in your Intestines!

STEP out tomorrow morning with the fresh buoyancy and briskness that comes from a clean intestinal tract. Syrup Pepsin—a doctor's prescription for the bowels—will help you do this. This compound of fresh, laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other mild ingredients will clean you out thoroughly—without griping, sickening or discomfort.

Poisons absorbed into the system from souring waste in the bowels cause that dull, headachy, sluggish, bilious condition: coat the tongue; foul the breath; sap energy, strength and nerve-force. A little of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will clear up trouble like that, gently, harmlessly, in a hurry. The great difference will make in your feelings over night will convince you of its merit.

Dr. Caldwell studied bowel troubles for forty-seven years. This long experience enabled him to make his prescription just what men, women, old people and children need. Its natural, mild, thorough action and its pleasant taste commend it to everyone. That's why "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," as it is called, is the largest selling laxative in drugstores everywhere.

DOLL LADY

Is Here With Hundreds of

"HONEYBUNCH" DOLLS

For the Little Girls of Pittsburgh and Vicinity

READ THE DOLL LADY'S MESSAGE TODAY:

Dear Little Girls:

The rush is on. In fact it came so fast that I was barely organized for it. I'm buried in mail almost up to my eyes and I've got to work like a beaver to get out of this sudden avalanche of letters. I'll be honest with you. I really didn't expect so many letters in three days.

But it all goes to prove that the little girls of Pittsburgh and vicinity are glad that I am back on my big Christmas job and that, considering the deluge of mail, it's a good thing that I came a little earlier than last year.

At that I hated to leave all my "Honeybunch" dollies in the toy warehouse. I have been counting and petting and talking to them for nearly a year and while they are all identically alike, it seems to me that I know each and every one separately. You see the minute a "Honeybunch" is completed in the home of the doll makers she has to come to me for inspection and she must be perfect in every way—dressed just right, smiling just right and walking just right—before I put her name on the list to come to Pittsburgh.

Well, anyway, "Honeybunch" is a darling doll—so marvelous that it is hard to describe her and I am proud of the fact that I have so many of them to distribute this year. In the first place she is almost absolutely unbreakable, she's about as tall as this newspaper is long, she has rubber arms and hands, eyes that twinkle and roll from side to side. She can go to sleep, has b-e-a-u-t-i-f-u-l organdy clothes, a lace cap with ribbon bows and shoes and stockings to match. You can make her walk like a real live baby, she has a charming voice, sucks her pacifier, bends her arms and legs — in fact "Honeybunch" does lots of really cute things. Oh, by the way, I almost forgot to tell you that she's almost a twin of "Tickletoes"—she's "Tickletoes'" first cousin. And she's going to be very easy to get.

Of course you want one of these marvelous big dolls. Send me your name and address on the coupon below and I'll write and tell you how you can own a "Honeybunch" before Christmas.

A little later, just as soon as I get all of my letters answered, I'm going to ask all the little girls to come in and see me. I bet I'll remember a lot of them from last year. Don't wait! Write today!

Sun-Telegraph Doll Lady

This Is "Honeybunch"—Isn't She Lovely and Adorable?

SEND THE DOLL LADY THIS COUPON

Here are the names of some of the hundreds of little girls who have already written to me:

Some watered
Others dangerous
Of 203 mouthwashes submitted to laboratory examination, 94 were non-antiseptic, 107 could not kill germs in 3 minutes, 143 could not kill in one minute. Others were so harsh they were dangerous to tissue. Dozens had no deodorant effect whatever they know THEY CAN DEPEND ON ITS RESULTS . . . AND SO DOES THE DOCTOR

It takes a time of real danger to establish the value of a mouthwash, in the eyes of the public.

And surveys show that when a town is hit by an epidemic, whether of cold, sore throat, or influenza, the sales of questionable mouthwashes go down, while those of Listerine go up.

In other words, people lose faith in new, untried, mouthwashes when health is involved and real germ-killing action in an antiseptic is vital. They dare not gamble.

Tested by Experts

For your own protection, always use Listerine, the safe antiseptic. Behind it lie fifty years of use in the hands of bacteriologists, nurses, physicians, surgeons, dentists, and the public. Its action is known. Its results can be definitely predicted. There is no uncertainty about either its germicidal power or its safety.

Kills germs in fastest time

Listerine, used full strength, kills germs in the fastest time that can be measured. It reduces bacteria in the mouth 98%. Any claims of faster killing time or greater reduction power are without fact.

Listerine's germicidal action as well as its safety are corroborated by The Lancet of London, foremost medical journal of the world. No higher compliment can be paid.

The highest compliment ever paid a mouthwash

THE LANCET OF LONDON

greatest of medical journals, says:

"The antiseptic (Listerine) has been proved to be perfectly safe for use in all the body cavities.

"The actual number of micro-organisms killed in 15 seconds by the undiluted antiseptic exceeds that claimed by the manufacturers; over 600 millions were found to be killed in the time limit compared with the 200 millions mentioned by the makers."

For Colds—certain results

In the prevention and treatment of the common cold, Listerine, under tests, shows results approached by no other mouthwash.

For example: When gargled twice a day, it showed power to reduce the number of colds at least 50%, often 66%.

Medical supervisors also found, in a series of tests, that when Listerine users did contract colds, the colds were one-fourth as severe and lasted one-third as long.

Safety is most important

Such results are made possible because Listerine is safe in action. That is, it does not injure the tissue while killing germs.

Mouthwashes so harsh they must be diluted before they dare be used, may and often do irritate the tissue. Instead of driving germs out, they help them to gain entrance to the body through the irritation they set up.

Don't take a chance

For that reason we say to you—choose your mouthwash carefully. Unless you do you may encourage infection instead of fighting it. The evidence of the majority of world medical authorities is on the side of Listerine. Ask for Listerine at your druggist's—and see that you get it. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

Words, words words . . . Jumpin' up and down again . . . Words, words, words . . . Dum, de, dum, de, dum, de dum . . . Maybe it's a form of insanity . . . Wonder if there are as many words in the dictionary as I've inspected, thrown into the wicker, into the column or mikes in the past few days? . . . Some day I'll buy a dictionary and find out . . . Now, what on earth prompted that lad to phone me and tell me that? . . . I mean that I made two mispronunciations . . . "You should have said 'Lohz On-glaze,'" he argued . . . Why should I have said it that way? . . . Who, me? . . . Do they expect me to speak good English? . . . After all these years??? . . . What am I—a Dr. Vizetelly or something? . . . I thought I was a "stylist" . . . When I say deze, doze and dem, then they've a perfect right to titter—but not when I say "Loss An-jell-iss" . . . And then Leo says "Renotoriety" or "middle-aisle it" won't get me any place . . . Why not? . . . It got me here!!! . . . I'm glad I managed matters and got to New Haven, after all . . . It was nice meeting all those people, who responded swifter than the average Broadwayokels do to Buzs Baer's swifties, Milt Gross, Ripley's and Rube Goldberg's . . . Bland Johaneson wasn't kidding when she said that to me . . . That I'm still on a merry-go-round waiting to catch a brass ring . . . Huh . . . She's telling me! . . . Wonder if it is true? . . . I mean, I wonder if it is really true—that my pals are chipping in to get me a straitjacket for Christmas?

That was a funny crack from Osterman, though . . . When someone read the billing on "Here Comes the Bride" and saw, "Additional Dialogue by Roger Pryor," he said: "Meaning what additional dialogue?" . . . "Oh," snapped Osterman, "that must mean the stuff that Paul McCullough says back to Bobby Clark!" . . . Heheheh . . . Reminds me of the time when Gus Shy was opening in Pittsburgh in "America's Sweetheart," one of the reasons why Schwab and Mandel, one-time greats in the producing field, have phffft! . . . "How do you feel?" someone asked the trembling Gus, who realized that the critics would make him or break him in his first important comedy role . . . "I'll tell you when I come off," moaned Gus, "whether I'm Clark or McCullough" . . . That Sid Parry is making fun of me, I think . . . He writes: "I know a columnist who shot himself in the head and didn't hit a thing!" . . . Oh, I know a funnier one . . . It said in a paper that a columnist shot himself and blew out his brains . . . And a wag observed: "Humph! When a handkerchief would have done as well!" . . . One must let one's readers have their moments.

Well, I'm glad I found that out . . . I was wondering why Holtz and his show flopped so miserably in Chicago . . . Someone should have warned Holtz about kidding the Polish and "Polacks" . . . The whole show hung on his kidding Lyda Roberti, a Polish gal . . . "Hey, Polack!" Lou would yell . . . And then they'd jolly the Poles . . . Maybe in New York you can get away with kidding, but it's dangerous elsewhere . . . He flopped so hard in Chicago because Chicago has more Poles than any other town and, besides, the Mayor is a Polack! . . . No wonder! . . . Ah-hahhhh! . . . Jock Whitney did a nice thing, at that, for the ticket speculators . . . They agreed on an eight-week buy on his very poor show . . . And Whitney released them all from their agreement, thereby saving them a mess of money certain to be lost . . . Wonder how many citizens realize that the brokers, who are supposed to be such "illicit" bargainers, make "buys" for several thousands of smackers on shows and never sign a paper . . . It's all done, I just learned, by a nod of the head or a handshake . . . I can't think of another business or racket where they trust each other that much . . . How does that saying go again? . . . Oh, yeah . . . A contract is a confession of mutual doubt!

Wonder why Equity is like that? . . . I mean its attitude toward the Theater League and the managers who want Sunday shows . . . If Equity would only encourage the plan it would make the going easier for all concerned up at the Legislature . . . Golly! The average actor and actress is having a tough enough time gathering enough money . . . They want Sunday shows! . . . Equity is supposed to be the actor's friend—all for one and one for all—and all that honky-dooly . . . If you asked me, Equity sometimes is the actor's severest critic . . . Most of the towns in the West have shows on the Sabbath . . . America's foremost vaudeville house—the Palace—does three shows on Sundays, which proves that the public wants it . . . Sure, Sunday is a day of rest! . . . It's a day for relaxation and so forth, and I wish some Equity official or anybody starts telling me: "How about a day of rest for the actor?" . . . Don't make me laugh—people will think I'm an easy audience! . . . The actor works so irregularly and is idle so often in the season he wants to work Monday, Tuesday, or any day, just to keep from getting rusty and hungry . . . The rank and file of Equity doesn't agree with its few Gillmores and George Arlisses, who are so strenuously opposed to Sunday shows . . . Sure, Mr. Arliss and Mr. Gillmore et al do not want Sunday performances, . . . They have so much money they want to play golf on Sunday, . . . I know too many Joe Zilchs, however, who want to eat on Sunday . . . The managers, I understand, will pay for the extra day . . . Which is my idea of front page news.

So I wasn't so wrong by calling him President Laval, nor was Mr. Stimson, it appears . . . Lav happens to be the prez of the Council of Ministers of the French Repub and what have you? . . . So, there! . . . Anyway—so state various authorities, so chalk one up for our side! . . . The heart thumps a little at that when you see yourself as you looked when you were a little boy. . . . I wish I could find five minutes to catch the Palace show—and Cantor and Jessel . . . How the years melt! . . . The billing in the lobby showing all of us in the Gus Edwards' Newsboys' Sextette is wrong, tho . . . Jessel was 11 at the time and sang bass!

And I was 13 . . . Now, let the skeptics say I'm older than 34. . . . Wish they hadn't made that boner of enlarging Bill's photo and labelling it mine . . . I think he died a while ago—his kin wouldn't like that . . . And, anyway, I was never a blonde kid with wavy hair, the dopes! . . . Ruth says they are fixing it . . . Okay. . . . Gee! Look at Eddie Cantor and Georgie Jessel—stars on the big-time and everything!

Sure glad that Dayton Stoddard and Adam Carroll have peddled their new musical show, "Dollars Up" . . . Alex Leftwich will do it—which is good news . . . I'll bet Dayton's song is a honey: "It's a Dirty Trick, But It's Good Broadway!" . . . Of all the lines—that one is my favorite—and from the brain of Dayton. . . . I've used it at least two dozen times . . . He can have it back now . . . So the drama defenders have finally started arguing over a show, at last! . . . Any controversy makes the subject interesting . . . Now it's "Hamlet" they differ about . . . Gabriel calls Norman-Bel Geddes, who produced Shakespeare's script in his own modern manner, a genius . . . And Atkinson, of the Times, is strenuously opposed to the alterations, although most of the boys were on Gabriel's side . . . I get Atkinson's point . . . He's a Hahvahd lahd and he doesn't want his "Hamlet" acted—he wants it recited.

Boys Burn School In Disgust Over Poor Marks

CROOKSTON, Minn., Nov. 12. (AP.)—Two boys told the Sheriff they burned a rural school building because "we got such poor marks we didn't want to go to classes any more."

One, 11 years old, and the other 14, they said school books were used to kindle the fire which destroyed the structure. The Sheriff said they also confessed firing a farmer's barn.

They were held without charge.

NEW, OUTSIDE PORCH-LIKE STAIRCASE AT LITTLE SISTERS'

LITTLE SISTERS' HOME SPEEDED

Where fire created a chamber of death on the night of July 4, 143 workers are rapidly completing fireproof stairs, porches and walls as they rebuild the home of the Little Sisters of the Poor. Every man on the job is working unmindful of the clock or aching muscles in order to finish the building by Christmas.

"Escape towers" or porches with outside stairs, which can be shut off from the rest of the building, concrete floors, a flat fireproof roof and large new doors will prevent a recurrence of the July disaster.

W. H. Norris, engineer in charge of the $300,000 reconstruction work, has complimented the workmen on the fact that "there isn't one who isn't doing his level best."

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

SCHOOLS SHOW SCOPE OF JOB LACK IN CITY

Children of 24,722 Idle Persons Attend Sessions, Survey for Pinchot Reveals

A survey made at the direction of Gov. Gifford Pinchot revealed Pittsburgh has 24,722 unemployed persons who have children in the city's schools. There are 110,000 pupils in the city's 172 schools. Normally 83,463 wage earners have children in the schools, but at present there are but 58,691.

The result of the survey was sent to Dr. James N. Rule, state superintendent of public instruction, yesterday by Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of schools. Similar reports have been compiled in the county schools, it was said. The survey is state-wide.

Less unemployment was found in Squirrel Hill than in any other section of the city. Adjoining sections, such as Homewood, Point Breeze and Regent Square also reported less than 10 per cent unemployment. Similar conditions were found at the Obey School, West End, Friendship and Fulton schools, East End, and at the Longfellow School, North Side.

Unemployment reached beyond 50 per cent in six areas, Glenwood, near Hazelwood; Lemington, East End; McKee, Lawrenceville; McKelvey Hill district, Luckey, West End, and Wickersham, South Side. The South Side and certain sections of the Strip and Hill districts are suffering most from the depression, the survey revealed.

POLICE LIFT ERRATIC

The two elevators at Central Police Station, Water street, have long been a source of trouble and one of them again is causing considerable anxiety to its operators and to passengers who must use it.

The operator, the men who must use it, and workmen at the building appealed to Assistant Superintendent of Police Ben R. Marshall, who promised to have the car repaired.

Party Lines Erased In Roosevelt Parley

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 12.—(AP.)—With his own efforts to cut the 1932 budget to fit an estimated shrunken state income completed, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt will call the legislative leaders of both parties into a conference Monday to attempt still greater economies.

BRYAN DEFEAT IN FINANCIAL PLIGHT SEEN

Uprising Over High Taxes To Sweep Out Machine Rule, Citizens Declare

Defeat of the political forces of Miles Bryan by the Independent Citizens Committee of that borough is predicted in a statement issued last night by the Independent organization, in which attention is called to the financial status of the borough. Although the Independent group lost their race for borough offices in the primary and general election, they succeeded in polling a large vote for Charles C. McGovern and C. M. Barr, Independent candidates for County Commissioner.

VICTORY PREDICTED

The statement issued last night said in part:

"In view of the fact that McKees Rocks is laboring under a bonded indebtedness totaling nearly one-sixth of the assessed valuation, while the citizens pay a borough tax of 18 mills—the highest of any borough in the county—the Citizens Committee feels that the Bryan gang is doomed and that the natural course of events, coupled with a determined effort of the electorate, will see Bryan's power swept away in an Independent uprising."

The financial plight of the borough, already proclaimed by the Independents, was the subject of a Borough Council meeting Tuesday night. Council voted to float a bond issue of $175,000 to settle outstanding debts and to provide funds for the first half of 1932.

Dr. C. B. Keebler, Borough Controller and son-in-law of Bryan, urged Council to be cautious in expenditures, forecasting that the borough will have "nothing but air" to run on.

LOAN INVESTIGATION

The statement of the Independent organization was issued by its chairman, Frank F. Wilde. It further stated:

"It is significant that Council waited until after the election to float a new bond issue and admit the bankruptcy of the borough, thus corroborating what we have claimed for eight months. The Citizens Committee intends to investigate the legality of this proposed bond issue by appealing to the Department of Internal Affairs to see that the borough administration does not exceed its legal borrowing power."

HOW ALL OF ENGLAND IS GROWING THIN

Yet Keeping Its Feet Under The Table

Recently Brought To This Country From England, It Enables The Average Fat Person To Lose 6 or More Pounds Weekly Without Starvation Or One Extra Step of Exercise

It seems that the British have found a way to rip off excess fat that's the dream of every too-fat person. That is, to rip it off without starving, without tiring exercise.

Under an extraordinarily simple and pleasant regimen discovered there, the average fat person loses as much as six to ten pounds weekly; yet suffers no pangs of hunger, no aching muscles, no weakness or depression. Returning travelers from Europe talked so much about it, that it has now been brought to this country. Anyone can follow it; so if you want to get thin, here's your chance.

Eat, Sleep, Drink And Grow Thin, Doing Only This

All the method involves is a glass of water before breakfast—to clear the intestines and tone the system—and a few minor changes in your diet.

Here is what you do: Tear this article out and save it, so you won't forget.

Before Breakfast: Drink an ordinary tumbler full of cool water to which you've added a teaspoon of effervescent salt. (Get the brand named "Andrews" at any drug store.) This to eliminate the usual curse of fat people: accumulated poisons and bloat. Also to cut the moisture weight of your body—sometimes as much as three pounds in one day.

At Meals: Cut out ONLY fat meats. Eat your usual quantity of lean meats and ADD a double-supply of green vegetables . . . spinach, cabbage, fresh peas, lettuce, etc. Then for dessert, shift from pastry and pies to FRESH FRUIT. The more you eat of these the better. They're super-nourishing vitamin foods.

Drink, too, if you like them, sauerkraut juice, tomato juice or orange juice "cocktails" before lunch and supper. Eat fresh fruit, too, before bed if you like to eat before retiring.

That's all you do. No wonder England and all of Europe is cheering this discovery. You lose weight day by day, week by week . . . usually from six or seven pounds weekly to even as much as ten pounds, and feel amazingly more alert and active while you are. Doctors of world knowledge widely endorse this way. The salt tones and clears the system. The vitamin foods take the place of those that build weight and fat, and thus fat goes like magic.

Embark on the Great Adventure of getting thin today. Ask your doctor about this if you wish to be doubly sure this is the simplest, safest way to lose embarrassing bulk. You can get Andrews Effervescent Salt at any drug store for a few cents.

The Burns brothers started their careers as telegraph operators in Pittsburgh. Then they were transferred to Oil City, where they worked as train dispatchers on the Pittsburgh-Buffalo Division.

James was retired in 1923, William in 1925. During their long careers, totaling more than 100 years, neither ever was charged with making a mistake in the transmission and reception of thousands of telegrams and the dispatching of thousands of trains.

William was buried from the home of a son, Marion, Center Court Apartments, Center avenue.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache — torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Firms Should Increase Ad Budgets, Club Told

Many people think that business is suffering from a severe illness and needs rest and quiet; consumer-buying is the one thing that will give business the necessary momentum and to this end budgets and appropriations for advertising should be increased, Miss Jeannette Carroll, president of the Federation of Women's Advertising Clubs of the World, told the Women's Ad Club of Pittsburgh yesterday.

The meeting was a luncheon in Kaufmann's.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS ON TRIAL, D. A. R. TOLD

Ability to Stop War in Far East To Decide World Group's Fate, Senator D. A. Reed Says

The League of Nations is on trial for its life and the whole world is watching to see if it can stop a Chinese-Japanese war, Senator David Aiken Reed remarked to the Pennsylvania Daughters of the American Revolution at the conference dinner in Hotel Schenley last night. With an adequate army and navy, absence of greed and imperialism and a firmness of intention to allow reason, common sense and justice to control her international actions, America can reasonably expect a continuance of peace, the Pennsylvania Senator said.

He compared treaties and pacts to sanitary measures in international health, but because a town is improved in sanitation its medical profession is not abolished, he said, adding that no treaty can mean the end of war as long as treaties can be broken and promises forgotten.

The dinner was attended by more than 500 persons and among other speakers were former United States Attorney John D. Meyer, Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, former president general of the Daughters, who spoke as a member of the Washington Bi-Centennial Commission; George W. Gosser, state head of the Sons of the American Revolution, and Dr. William J. Holland. Music was by Mrs. Thomas K. Cree, soprano, who also led assembly singing, and by an orchestra under the direction of Victor Saudek.

500 at Dinner

The number of Daughters at the four-day conference increased to fully 300 today as election of officers was the chief item of business. The ticket, which is unopposed, is: Regent, Mrs. William H. Alexander, Monongahela; vice regent, Mrs. Raymond L. Wadhams, Wilkes-Barre; recording secretary, Mrs. Robert E. Drum, Greensburg; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Oliver H. Meyers, Easton; treasurer, Mrs. William H. Erwin, Bethlehem; librarian, Mrs. Edward G. Caughey, Sewickley; historian, Miss Harriet Holderbaum, Somerset; registrar, Miss L. Ethel Boughmer, Uniontown; directors, Mrs. Frances H. Doane, Scranton; Mrs. James H. Kroan, Jersey Shore; Mrs. Robert C. Brotherton, Waterford.

An extensive display of communistic literature is among the several exhibits at conference headquarters in the William Penn Hotel. Also attracting considerable attention is the old flag of 26 stars, which is the property of the hostess (Pittsburgh) chapter, and which is hanging behind the rostrum where the state officers and their many bouquets are stationed during sessions. Mrs. William H. Pouch, of New York, a vice president general, and Mrs. Edwin Earl Sparks, honorary state regent, were among the distinguished attendants at yesterday's sessions and in the afternoon greeting was given by Maj. C. F. Schisano, a Frenchman, who is a Son of the American Revolution and was a member of the A. E. F.

Show Red Writings

Mrs. Charles Yon led the singing at this morning's session and this afternoon sang Gertrude Martin Rohrer's "Pennsylvania" with the composer at the piano. This evening the officers, delegates and alternates will be guests of the Pittsburgh Chapter at a buffet supper in the Twentieth Century Club and later will see "British Guns," the playlet which Mrs. Albert Pettit made from an actual incident in the Revolutionary War. The conference will close with further business tomorrow.

CLASSICAL EVENING FROCKS DESTINED FOR POPULARITY

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Nov. 12.—We're strong for the classics, especially when they are of the sartorial variety. That is why there is always so much interest and craning of necks when an evening frock of black velvet cut on simple classic lines makes its appearance. Worth is an adept at this sort of thing and nearly always includes one or more such examples.

THERE IS NOTHING in the world more becoming than the simple, untrimmed, perfectly cut and detailed frock that uses its black velvet in a grand line, regal yet severe. But unless it is cut by a master hand, it isn't at all worthwhile. The tall woman of good coloring is at her best in a frock of this type, as it gives her both dignity and a gracious softness. This year's black velvet classics use much drapery softly and very effectively handled. As usual, most of the interest and detail of the model is centered toward the back, where the draperies meet usually in bustle bow effect.

THE BLACK VELVET evening frock cut on classic lines is one of Worth's biggest successes this season. It has been sketched from an interesting angle. The bodice in front crosses diagonally from the single shoulder strap and passes over the opposite shoulder in softly draped folds which terminate in a large bustle like bow at the side back. The draped sash too appears to terminate in the same bow-knot, for in reality it is cut in one piece with the bodice and simply crushed together to give the sash idea. The long train is in a piece with the hip-yoke and is detached from the skirt proper.

Sometimes We Stupidly Bore Our Loved Ones

Can we love too much?

That's what Janet's wondering. And she has plenty of reason.

Janet believes that if you love at all, you should do it in a Big Way. So, with heart breaking regularity, she falls for some Wonderful Man, and proceeds to adore him to distraction.

Only to have him walk off and leave her cold!

Which, to say the least, is discouraging.

"It's your own fault," say they. "You take 'em too serious—treat 'em too good."

"Can that be the trouble?" wails poor Janet. "Shouldn't we love as much as ever we can? Do I lose my men because I love too deeply? And how can I help it, if my feelings carry me away?"

UNBOUNDED AFFECTION

Maybe you've asked those very questions yourself. Listen—"My Dear Sally:

"I wish you would answer a question and give me some advice about something that is preying on my mind.

"Will you tell me whether or not there is such a thing as loving too much?

"I have not been successful in any of my love affairs and I have been so badly hurt that I am scared. I have to admit that when I do love anyone I love with what you would call the extreme amount of feeling. But it seems as if I just can't help loving that way hard as I have tried not to.

"I don't mean by that that I would let my love go so far as doing wrong. No. I have never done that. And I never would. The only thing is that I can never do enough for someone I care for. The more I do, the more I want to do. The more I love, the more I want to love, it seems.

"All my friends tell me that I fall and get hurt because I put no limit on my feelings. Do you think that can be the reason?

BORING SOMETIMES

"I had a nervous breakdown over my last love affair, and I am afraid to even think of loving again, seeing that I have so little control over my heart. I often wonder if my case is one of being abnormal, of being weak, of being just foolish, or what can be the matter with me?

"I am very unhappy over it all. Won't you please help me?

"JANET."

Can we ever love too much? No, honey, we can't. We can never have too much love and loyalty and tenderness in our hearts.

But we can express that love too stupidly, too clovingly, until we actually smother and bore those we love.

That's what you've been doing, Janet, smothering your men. And no man likes to be smothered . . . or bored. He wants a sparkling saucy chum as well as a devoted sweetie. He wants someone who'll kid him and tease him and keep him guessing . . . someone who'll fill life with new color and adventure . . . someone who will fill him with new pep and purpose.

And you, I suspect, have been strong for Sugar and Nothing But Sugar's only part of true love, Janet. There's pepper and paprika in love, too. You've made love as uninteresting as a candy heart—and yourself as cheap. That hurts, doesn't it? But it's the truth.

A STUPID LOVE

You've made a doormat of yourself . . . and by so doing you have robbed love of every particle of adventure. You have given the man no chance to strut his stuff, no chance to do anything for you. You have done everything for him, and thereby robbed the affair of all mystery and excitement.

Love with all your heart, but use the good old bean, kiddie. Respect yourself. Put a price on yourself. Make yourself difficult, and you'll make yourself desirable.

And stop going into "nervous breakdowns" and kidding yourself that you're a martyr because Men Do Not Appreciate a Great Big Beautiful Generous Love. Yours wasn't a great big generous love. It was a stupid love, a lazy love.

It's lots easier to sit in the moonlight and hold hands than it is to snap into action, call on the gang and have a weenie roast. But if you want to hold a lover in 1931 . . . or if you want that lover to try to hold you . . . you've got to make your proposition interesting, little girl.

Actors Wise in Making Most of Spotlight Before Fame Wanes—Fay King

ONCE HAVING KNOWN THE SPOTLIGHT AT ITS BRIGHTEST, THEY CANNOT BE CONTENT OUT OF ITS GLOW
FAY KING

By FAY KING

The screen and the stage offer by far the greatest and quickest fame and fortune, still it is most fleeting.

When success depends upon personal appearance the marks of time and change in public taste do much to shorten a career.

They are wisest who make the most of the spotlight while it lasts and can gracefully step down from their pedestal at the proper time.

But some who have enjoyed the greatest fame and fortune are the most reluctant to retire with their laurels and applaud their successors.

Having enjoyed the delirious adoration of world-wide fame it seems they cannot be content with one iota less.

Bickell Letter Gone, Madge Resigns Self to Face Music

I was weak enough to be glad that the telephone in the Tiver sitting room is so situated that I did not have to stand with my back to the window, the glass of which I had shattered when I had thrown the coffee pot at the Chinese whose face had been pressed against it. Even while I was talking I could watch that window and, indeed, I never took my eyes from it, even through the flurry which my telephone conversation brought to my nerves.

For Martha Halkett's first words when she had spoken my name were a breathless apology.

"Oh! Mrs. Graham! what shall I say to you?" she breathed. "Of course of all times in the world, the telephone operator away from her desk just a few seconds before I came in. I was late, you know, on account of my dentist's appointment!"

"Yes, yes, I know," I said as she paused and, trying to keep my impatience out of my voice.

"It wasn't her fault, at all, because it was a summons from the front office, and she had no time to leave a message for me. And she thought, of course, that she would be back before I arrived. I got through at the dentist's sooner than I expected, and when I reached my desk the first thing I saw was your letter. The mail was just going out, and I had to hurry like mad to get the envelope addressed as you said, enclose the other in it and stamp it properly. I just made the mail, and not two minutes afterward the girl came back and said to disregard your letter and telephone you. I got the first elevator downstairs, but the boy was gone beyond recall. I have just returned and am telephoning you. I do hope that I haven't disarranged any of your plans."

"Then the letter has been mailed." I heard myself saying.

"Yes, it has gone, exactly as you asked in your letter."

"And exactly as I wished." I made my voice friendly and approving the while I was mentally anathematizing her efficiency with the injustice which one instinctively uses in blaming anyone save one's self for something gone wrong. "After I had sent it to you I thought of something which I had omitted from the letter, and thought I would keep it until the next mail. But this morning I realized that I did not wish to sacrifice speed in transmission to any additional messages, so I am much relieved to know it caught the mail. Thank you so much. How much were the stamps?"

"They belonged to the firm." She laughed merrily. "We do not charge for letters sent to Mr. Bickell."

"Then thank you again," I said, "and I won't keep you for I know how busy you are. Good-bye."

"Good-bye." The telephone clicked and I hung up the receiver and walked toward the door, keeping my eyes on the shattered window. I did not sit down on the couch again, but drew a chair so near the door into the little hall that I could easily spring through it if the terrifying face should appear again.

Not that I really expected to see it. I was beginning to experience, though faintly, the contempt with which one generally begins to regard a danger safely skirted. Though I had no idea how he had accomplished it without leaving any trace of footprints or blood he must have been able to reach the cornfield without being seen. From there it was child's play to get into the thicket skirting the road and so safely away.

For the moment I had something more important to contemplate, and sinking down in my chair, feeling as spent as if I had been running, I considered the news which Martha Halkett had brought to me.

I never would send another important letter without first sleeping over it. I resolved, flaying myself with the thought of Katherine's justified and certain contempt when she learned how I had broken faith with her.

Yet I could not feel wholly sorry. At any rate, Jack would know what was going on. I told myself defiantly, and then, realizing that I need not further delay my return home, and that I would get back in such season that no guess would be made as to my real destination, I walked to the shattered window, and looked out upon the grass outside.

And then, as if from the heavens above, I saw three drops of thick, red—something fall upon the grass below me.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

"Time Cards" as Daily Aids to Baby's Health

Every young mother has many problems to meet in the feeding and care of her baby. When I use the word "problem" I mean exactly that, because the care of an infant is no haphazard thing. There must be a definite, daily program, and this must be carried out to the letter.

Dr. Copeland

The Children's Bureau at Washington has compiled what it calls "Baby's Daily Time Cards." I have found them so accurate that I am confident any mother is wise to be governed by them. I shall not hesitate to use this material and to translate it for the benefit of the mothers who read this column.

May I say in the beginning that the interval between feedings depends upon the size of the baby and its particular needs. Usually feedings at four-hour intervals supply sufficient food. In special cases the interval is reduced to three hours. Your physician will determine the frequency of feeding.

In any case, the first feeding of the day is best given at 6 o'clock in the morning. After this, the baby is left in its crib and will go to sleep. As a matter of fact, the infant sleeps about 20 hours out of the 24.

At 9:15 for the four-hour feeding, or at 8:15 for the three-hour feeding, the infant should be awakened, and certainly by the end of the first month of life, should be given a teaspoonful of carefully strained orange juice or tomato juice. Some doctors use prune juice instead.

The Children's Bureau and many other authorities regard it as important to give at this same time a half-teaspoonful of cod-liver oil. The baby is lying across the mother's lap, and she carefully pours the oil, drop by drop, into the baby's mouth. This is followed by the fruit juice.

It may be surprising to some mothers to know that anything can be given the baby out of a spoon. As a matter of fact, the youngster will be found to appreciate the novelty.

There are certain elements, particularly the vitamins, in the cod-liver oil and fruit juices, which are very important to the growth of the child. They are particularly important if pasteurized or boiled milk is used. For the breastfed baby, too, they are extremely useful.

FEEDING BABY

This is the seventh of a series of eight articles on Infant Feeding, by Dr. Royal S. Copeland. In this series Dr. Copeland discusses every phase of this all-important subject. The eighth and last article of the series will appear on this page Monday.

At 9:30 a. m., or at 8:30 in the three-hour schedule, the baby has its bath. Then it plays in its crib, and will be ready for the 10 o'clock feeding, or 9 o'clock if the shorter interval is used.

After this feeding, the infant is taken out-of-doors. Lots of sun and a good nap in the open air will leave it ready for a drink of water. The next feeding will follow at 2 o'clock, or at noon if the three-hour schedule is used.

If your doctor has advised a shorter interval between feedings, there will be another one at 3 o'clock, but usually the next feeding will not be until 6 o'clock. After the child returns to the house, it is undressed for the night. It should be permitted to kick and play for a little while until put into its nightclothes.

A quarter of an hour before the 6 o'clock feeding, the child should be given cod-liver oil and fruit juice, the same as in the morning. After this the youngster is put to bed in a dark room with open windows. At 10 o'clock it is awakened for a final feeding after the first two months of life. During the first two months an additional feeding is given at 2 o'clock in the morning.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Signing Registers

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you kindly advise me as to the correct way to sign a hotel register? I am a divorcee, the mother of a two-year-old daughter, and as the baby will be traveling with me, I would appreciate knowing whether her name should be included when registering?

Mary.

It is always best to indicate on the register the fact that a child is in the group.

So, on the register write name that you have chosen as your formal name, and then write "and child."

MRS. WELLS THOMPSON AND CHILD, CHICAGO.

Traditional Grace

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would appreciate your kindness very much in aiding my friend and me in a problem.

He says that when a small child addresses his or her cousin, the child should say, "Cousin Ann" instead of "Ann", the latter being my suggestion. He claims this form to be correct providing the cousin of the child is a good deal older.

I have never heard anyone, old or young, use this term, and so declare it to be "old-fashioned."

Who is right?

I. W.

Your friend's suggestion that the child call a much older cousin "Cousin Ann"—is, to my way of thinking too, the more appropriate title. It always seems to me, as it apparently does to him, thoroughly unsuitable to hear a very young child use the first name when addressing a cousin who is much older. "Cousin" is a charming word and makes a charming title and in this case takes the curtness from the use of only the first name. And it really isn't old-fashioned, except that it has the fragrance of grace of traditional things.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Gals with sallow skins should drink freely of grapejuice, tomato juice and orange juice. They are victims of poor elimination. Sauerkraut juice is another beauty drink.

Once or twice a day the busy housewife should fall into the old arm chair and elevate her tired feet. Placing the little dogs on another chair aids the flow of blood through the arteries of the legs, speeds up the streams along the ankles through the feet to the end of each individual toe. When feet smart and burn, bathe with a soda solution, one teaspoonful of baking soda to a pint of water. Dry and give a brisk massage with talcum powder. No women can have a sweet nature if her pedals are on fire. Hurty feet make grouches of angels.

Water drinking is important if the complexion is to be clear. Six glasses a day aren't too many. Take one upon arising; it clears the stomach of accumulated mucus. Water acts favorably upon the intestinal track and the kidneys. Don't be a dry if you would be cheered and regaled by the reflection in the looking glass.

The foot is pliable, easily moulded to a shape that is not normal. If the shoe is not sufficiently large, if the heel is too high, toes become deformed, arches weaken, ankles turn, corns and ingrowing nails start up their tormenting work. Shoes should be fitted with the utmost care. They should be of ample length and width. Practically all foot ills are caused by pressure or by shoes that throw the foot out of alignment.

ARMY MULE TO SHOW HERE

Sport Comment

By JAMES J. LONG

Price, Steecker Recalled. Stopping Pair Big Job. Pep Talk Borrowed. Stengel as Coach. Brothers in Majors. Mandell's Drab Finish.

ARMY DUO NOT STRANGERS TO REIDER

IN THE ARMY game at the Stadium Saturday afternoon, Paul Reider, Pitt's 156-pound halfback, will be facing two men who are not strangers to him. He has met them before on the barred field. As a matter of fact, quite a few members of the West Point squad have been opponents of the former Bellefonte star, but he remembers two in particular—above all the rest. Those two are Capt. Johnny Price, giant left tackle, any Ray Stecker, halfback.

Paul Reider

The Bellefonte team, with Reider at right halfback, was playing the Army Plebes in 1928. On the left side of the Plebe line, Price was giving the prep school all kinds of trouble, so Reider, who was running the team from his halfback post, merely sent his plays the other way, with the result that Bellefonte won the game in easy style, 35 to 6. It was Stecker who scored the lone touchdown for the Plebes that day, running back a kickoff 65 yards through the entire Bellefonte team and carrying the ball across the Bellefonte goal line.

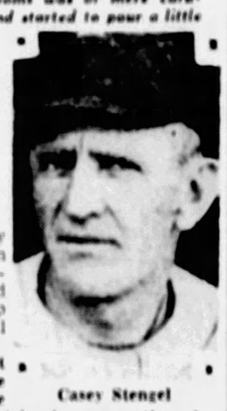
IT WAS THAT play and a number of other sensational bits of work turned in by Stecker that afternoon that caused the West Point halfback to linger in Reider's memory. The New Castle lad considers his rival halfback of Saturday every bit as tough as Marchy Schwartz, of Notre Dame, though he questions if the interference that Stecker gets is as perfect as that given to Schwartz.

Upon the shoulders of Reider and Rip Collins will fall the burden of keeping Price out of the Pitt backfield during Saturday's battle. The chances are that Mike Sebastian, Reider's understudy, also will get a chance to see some action, as it would be asking a little too much to expect Reider to spend the entire afternoon either carrying the ball himself or crashing into the bulk of the Army leader on almost every play.

NEW YORK U. S defeat at Georgia's hands last Saturday will be pointed to for months as bearing out again the old dope that sometimes you play a poor game and win, while at other times you play a great game and lose.

New York U. made 15 first downs to Georgia's six; gained 187 yards by rushing to Georgia's 96; attempted 17 forward passes to Georgia's four; completed eight forward passes to Georgia's one, and gained 103 yards from passes to Georgia's 20. Yet Georgia came out with seven points to the Violet's six.

THE PRIZE STORY of a football pep-talk is reported by John Kieran as coming from Harry Mehre, former Notre Dame star and now head coach at Georgia. "The best pep talk any team of mine ever got was what you might call borrowed or even stolen," Mehre related. "My team and the other team were dressing in the same building. The wall between the two rooms was of mere cardboard or something like that. I got up and started to pour a little inspiration into the boys when I heard loud talking in the other room. I stopped and listened. The other coach was just starting his pep talk. It was better than mine and louder. We could all hear it perfectly. So I just sat down and let his pep talk do for both teams. And we won way off. That coach was a very good talker and made a tremendous impression on our boys."



Casey Stengel

THOUGH THE REPORT that Casey Stengel is to be a coach for the Brooklyn club next year still lacks official confirmation, Stengel is said to have actually signed in that capacity, giving up the managership of the Toledo club, which he held for several seasons.

Stengel will be returning to his first major league love in hooking up with the Dodgers, as his initial engagement in the big show was at Brooklyn in 1912. He put in six seasons there before coming to the Pirates with George Cutshaw for 1918 in a trade for Burleigh Grimes, Al Mamaux and Chuck Ward.

THE SIGNING OF Stengel by Brooklyn as coach probably means the early release of both Ivan Olson and Jimmy Johnston. Both are capable coaches, but Manager Max Carey naturally prefers assistants of his own choosing.

Carey himself will direct the traffic on the third base lines, with Stengel taking over the duties at first base, and Otto Miller handling the pitchers to complete the coaching staff.

CONNIE MACK apparently is a firm believer in the theory baseball ability runs in families. He is going in strongly for players who have brothers in the big show. One pair was broken up recently when the Giants released Pitcher Joe Heving, brother of John, who catches for the A's when Mickey Cochrane gets tired, but Mack will have two others with similar major league connections next year in Outfielder Oscar Roettger, brother of Walter, of the Cardinals, and Outfielder Lou Finney, brother of Hal, the Pirate catcher.

FINNEY, BY THE way, is rated by Mack as the most promising of the seven young players recalled for tryouts with the A's next spring. The recruit is only 20 and green, but, like his brother on the Buccaneer roster, he can hit, as his minor league record and an average of .375 in nine games for the A's last fall attested.

Even with one of the Hevings sent to the minors, following the separation of Milt and Alex Gaston a year ago, there will be five pairs of brothers in the major leagues when training is begun next spring. The Finneys and the Roettgers will be new additions to a list that already included Paul and Lloyd Waner, Wes and Rick Ferrell, and Luke and Joe Sewell.

One of the tragic figures in boxing is Sammy Mandell, who dropped from world championship heights to such depths that he has retired from the game at the suggestion of the Illinois State Athletic Commission.

Sammy Mandell

This because he looked so bad in action that he was accused of not trying—unable to hold his own in semi-windups with low raters who would not have been good sparring partners for him a few years ago.

MANDELL HAD ALL the chances in the world to make himself rich during his four-year reign as lightweight king. He wasted his golden opportunities. Instead of consenting to defend his crown for reasonable sums against challengers whom he could have beaten easily he let match after match slip away because he demanded prices which promoters could afford to pay only for big heavyweight bouts. Sammy said his title had cost him $50,000—he had agreed to pay Rocky Kansas that sum in event that Kansas lost the championship in their bout—and he had to get it back. That explanation did not alter the promoter's side of the case, so Mandell remained idle while second and third-rate lightweights were picking up from $7,500 to $15,000 per bout. When Sammy tried to come back as a welterweight, it was too late. Out of six bouts he won only one. And now he finds himself at the end of the trail with nothing but the memory of a fortune kicked away.

By CARL W. SHATTO

A Yellow Jacket team that figures to finish no worse than third, and which can train its eye on a title without contracting a sty, will collide with a Syracuse sextet that has been remoulded into a real championship contender when the local opener in the International Hockey League's new title race is staged at Duquesne Garden at 8:30 tonight.

Joe Miller

The Stars, who won only one game from Pittsburgh last season and who were firmly entrenched in the second division at the finish of the 1930-31 scramble, have been strenghened in all departments by their new leader, Mickey Roach, who made winning a habit while he was at the helm at Buffalo.

Because of the jinx that has kept Pittsburgh from winning an opening game in the last several years, Coach Charley Reid is not confident that the adding of Ty Arbour, Frank Ingram, Lewis Holmes and Norman Locking to his attacking forces will enable the Jackets to get off on the right foot, but he is confident that this added strength will prove sufficient to keep the locals up near the top as the race wears on.

SYRACUSE STRENGTHENED

The Jackets set the victory pace for the entire circuit during the last half of the 1930-31 campaign, and Coach Reid could have stood pat on the squad that carried Pittsburgh from the cellar into the playoffs had not all rivals decided to go in for strengthening in a big way.

A glance at the Stars' new forces gives one a fair idea of the conspiracies that all Pittsburgh rivals have been hatching during the "off season." Joe Miller, who guarded the net for the Pirates when Pittsburgh was represented in the National League, has been signed by Roach to replace an assortment of goalies who performed somewhat ineffectively for Syracuse last season.

Rusty Hughes and Vale Teasdale have been permitted to remain as the Stars' defense duo, but Deacon Waite has been purchased from the New York Rangers to perform at center, and Pete Bellifuille, a former Toronto and Detroit National Leaguer, has been obtained to team up with big Pete Pelangio, one of the best forwards in the league, at the wings.

That Roach has rebuilded well at Syracuse is evinced by the fact that the Stars were able to down Les Canadiens, Montreal's world champions, in a recent exhibition game.

INDIAN ON SQUAD

Cliff McBride, another former Pittsburgh skater, with Cleveland last season, and a full-blooded Indian by the name of Miracle, who is said to be able to perform miracles on the ice, are among the other new additions to the Syracuse forces.

The Stars are to the International League what the Montreal Maroons are to the National circuit, in that they go in for big men and rough, smashing, pulverizing hockey.

YANKEES BUY NEWARK CLUB

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 12.—(AP.)—Paul Block, owner of the Newark Bears baseball team, of the International League, announced today he had sold the club to Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, of the American League.

The deal was closed this morning, and Block's announcement was immediately confirmed by Col. Ruppert.

The owner of the Yankees disclosed it was the first big minor league club of which he has acquired complete control. The Yankees for some time have had a working agreement with the Jersey City Internationals, but held no financial interest in this club, the colonel explained.

Paul Block, the publisher, purchased the Newark club from Baltimore interests in 1927. He immediately began the task of constructing a pennant contender, aided by connections with several major league clubs.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: U. S. IS ONLY COUNTRY TO CELEBRATE NOVEMBER 11—The United States is the only nation in the world to celebrate Armistice Day as a public holiday, although it had no part in the act of November 11, 1918, and had nothing to gain from it in a material way. The French Chamber, by resolution of November 4, 1921, declined to establish November 11 as a national holiday on the grounds of that date's proximity to All Saints' Day (November 1), which is a national holiday in France. Instead, it designated the Sunday following Armistice Day to be celebrated as Victory Day. Armistice Day is not a public holiday in England, and is merely observed by two minutes of silence at 11 a. m. Italy celebrates Armistice Day on November 5, as the date of her private truce with Austria-Hungary. All other nations celebrate the anniversary of cessation of hostilities on a variety of dates, ranging between October 28 and November 7. MRS. GROMOLL WAS BURIED IN HER WEDDING DRESS—When Mrs. Amelia Gromoll was married, in Kreis Flottow, Germany, in 1868, she made her own wedding dress out of the strong and durable dark material our grandparents considered so superior to the materials of today. On all formal occasions, and when visiting friends or relatives, she invariably wore this same dress. She seemed to regard it as something superlative, and her expressed desire to be buried in her favorite dress was granted in 1920, 52 years after her marriage. This suggestion was submitted by Mrs. Gromoll's daughter, Mrs. Martha Beile, of 2906 McLean avenue, Chicago.

ST. MARY'S DEFEATED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—The University of California, Los Angeles football team, much bounded infant of the West Coast grid aggregations, cast aside its swaddling clothes here yesterday by passing its way to a 12-0 victory over St. Mary's Gaels.

Back in Howard Harpster's days as a senior at Akron (O.) West High School, he played against one Cliff Aultman, then a freshman footballer at Akron South . . . Now Aultman is the star all-round player of the Geneva College eleven, of Beaver Falls, coached by Harpster, brilliant All-America quarterback at Carnegie Tech in 1928, who is serving his second successful season as mentor of the Covenanters . . . Also playing for Harpster are two other former Akron High School stars, Art (Bugs) Grahame, star quarterback and passer, and Bill Sauer, another back.

They must turn out some great high school players in Akron, if these stars and Harpster may be accepted as a criterion . . . Aultman when he was ready for college matriculated at Ohio State University and played on the freshman team. Then he remained out of college for a year and entered Geneva . . . Nothing short of sensational has been his work so far this season . . . In the St. Francis game, which Geneva won, 12-6, he pulled an end-around play that was good for 45 yards and a touchdown and caught a pass for the other score . . . Against Bucknell he caught two passes for touchdowns to enable his team to come from two touchdowns behind and tie the score at 14-14 . . . Against Grove City, he caught a pass for a touchdown and kicked both touchdown goals in a 14-7 triumph . . . In the game with Franklin & Marshall, he suffered a leg injury in the first play, and against Waynesburg, last Saturday, he played quarterback and threw passes for three touchdowns to hand the Titans their first defeat of the season.

ARMY SQUAD OFF TONIGHT

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Army's squad worked late last evening at its football. Again the flood lights were utilized, the workout ending just before mess call. Pitt's strange formation gained ground when the middle of the line was attacked, but on the flank and in the air the varsity turned back the scrubs on all attempts. Army's own offensive had a thorough tryout and worked with a pleasing smoothness. Today Maj. Sasse will work the men as long as possible, and at the conclusion of the practice period the squad will leave for Pittsburgh.

It is due in that city tomorrow morning. The Cadet Corps will give the men a rousing sendoff tonight, a rally at the field, with the full Military Academy band being a feature.

Tomorrow evening at 5:30, four sections of a special train will carry the 1,200 cadets in the corps, with the military band, to the scene of the battle.

As the hour for the game approaches, Army's adherents are hoping for a victory over the Panthers on Saturday. What with a defeat by Harvard and a tie by Yale in their two previous major engagements, the cadets need to win this game to strengthen their morale.

PANTHERS HOLD HARD DRILLS FOR CADETS

By JESS CARVER

Here is the big news of the day: The Army mule is going to accompany the Kay-dets here for the game with Pitt. The mule, Percy or Aloysius by name, I suppose, is to be hustled over here Friday night with the main detachment of the corps and will be on review Saturday afternoon.

Paul Reider

With the mule on hand, Pitt's Bulldog Reider better not have so much to say, because it would burn the Bulldog up considerable to be answered by a loud and raucous hee-haw.

Yesterday's drill at Pitt was as spirited a session as the Panthers have gone through all year. The varsity lugged the ball all over the lot against the freshmen and "B" squads in a dummy scrimmage. The boys looked hot. They ran through their plays without hitch, worked out against the Army plays as employed by the freshmen and stopped 'em dead.

MORRIS IN LINEUP

Hart Morris was in at right guard all afternoon and will be fit and ready to go against the Kay-dets. His injured hand has just about healed, and he played part of the Tech game last week without damaging the bum mitt any more than it was in the first place.

Clark likely will be used at fullback, too, despite rumors to the contrary. Luch is about O. K. again, but Jimmy went so well in the Tech game, despite his fumbles, and his speed will come in so handy against the Solers, that Jock figures to give him the call.

Tonight, the Tartans pull out of town for their invasion of Philadelphia, where Saturday they take on the Temple University Owls.

The Skibo squad will work out in the Tartan Bowl this afternoon and tumble into their Pullmans tonight and get away at 10 o'clock. The entire available squad of 27 men will make the trip, only Lib Lewis, the end, and O'Toole, the fullback, both injured, being left behind. The medicos have doped it out that O'Toole is suffering from paratyphoid fever.

TARTAN DRILL LONG

Yesterday, Bobby Waddell sent his charges through a long workout, starting at 2 o'clock and ending after 5. The varsity line was the same that went so well against Pitt, with Tony Kebe still in there in the place of Heinzer, who continues to limp around on his bum leg. Vorderburg and Ewing alternated at fullback, with Bevevino and Dueger handling the quarterbacking and Georgia Kavel and Graveno at the halves.

The Tipoff

Red Gannon, Jake stahl and Ted Bonsher handled a nifty half game yesterday at Latrobe, as St. Vincent took St. Francis for the second year in a row. There were a couple of tough ones that came up for the arbiters to call, and there called 'em a lot, Gannon, as referee, looked like a big leaguer, which he is.

This chap Johnson, St. Vincent's right halfback, is a pip of a ball player. He has classes to wade naturally, being only a freshman, but he handles passes well, runs hard and like a lot of drive. Now and then he exhibits a tendency to go into the light a little too high, but a good poke or two on the bean will correct that.

Cliff Hatfire had a field day yesterday at the expense of the Wilson Tigers, grid lads who so played against Sammy Kistler's team will tell you it is no easy matter to run wild against the Tigers. He scored eight times, seven touchdowns, running 55 yards for one, which is some run.

They tell one that Referee Bill Cromell called on Buddy Souder in the Pitt-Tech game, which was a mistake, as Buddy, as you know, always has a lot to say, and he was remarking about things in general and finally Cromell turned to Souder, handed him his whistle and remarked: "Here, Bulldog, take this. You need it more than I."

HOPPE INCREASES CUE LEAD OVER COCHRAN

CHAMP FAILS TO GAIN ON CHALLENGER

Willie Hoppe, former holder of many cue titles, advanced a step nearer the world 18.1 balkline billiard crown yesterday, and was sitting pretty as he faced the defending champion, Welker Cochran, as they started the seventh 300-block of their 3,600-point match in the William Penn parlors this afternoon.

Hoppe led the champion, 1,800 to 1,095, at the end of their sixth block last night.

HOPPE WINS EASILY

Hoppe gained a 300-to-89 victory in the evening contest after having won the afternoon session, 300 to 215, yesterday. Willie had a high run of 179, 13 better than the scintillating 166 scored Tuesday. His high run for the afternoon test was 102. Cochran's best runs were 62 and 44.

It behooves Cochran to pick up if he intends to retain the championship. Today's matches, afternoon and evening, mark the homeward stretch, now that the halfway mark has been passed. Yesterday's score by innings:

McCOURT DEFEATED

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—Joseph Moriarty of Chicago took the lead in the Northern sectional three-cushion billiard championship yesterday by defeating Charles McCourt of Cleveland, former world titleholder, 50 to 34 in 48 innings.

WESTHUS LEADS

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—Bud Westhus, St. Louis professional, won two matches yesterday, and went into the lead in the Southern sectional three-cushion billiard tournament here.

In an afternoon match Westhus defeated Gene Deardorff, St. Louis, 50 to 44, in 46 innings, and last night he won from Neal Jones, Indianapolis, 50 to 26, in 56 innings.

THREE RECORDS SET

OAKLAND, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—Trojan, Los Angeles speedster three-mile track team yesterday, set three records here yesterday. The Trojans broke two records for 10 miles with a mark of 51 minutes 43.2 seconds. He swept to victory in the 10-mile contest with a record of 6 minutes 22.5 seconds, and his third record was established in the time trials, when he drove a mile in 30 4/5 seconds.

JACK PRESSED TO WIN

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 12.—(AP.)—Jack Dempsey, one-time ruler of the heavyweights, fought Beatrice Wright, giant Omaha Negro, a hard pull to stay the four-round bout here last night, but edged out a referee's decision.

Saints' Star

HARRY JOHNSON

St. Vincent College halfback ace, who scored all three of his team's touchdowns against St. Francis yesterday to win, 20-0.

BATTLES STARS IN VICTORY

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 12.—(AP.)—A sensational exhibition of ole miss prowess was the football contest between West Virginia Wesleyan and Salem colleges as part of an Armistice Day program here yesterday.

Cliff Battles, Wesleyan's crack halfback, ran through, around and over the Salem squad to register seven of his team's eight touchdowns, which resulted in a 51-to-6 win for the Methodists.

Mike Turnesa Cops Mid-South Title

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 12.—(AP.)—Cutting six strokes from par in the morning and another in the afternoon, Mike Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., carded 65-70—135 yesterday to capture the twelfth annual mid-South individual championship.

Henry Pickard, tall and youthful Charleston, S. C., pro, won second money with 70-69—139. Johnny Golden, of Paterson, N. J., turned in two 70's to take third place and Willie Klein, of East Williston, L. I., was fourth with 72-72—144.

W. & J. OFF TONIGHT

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Jeff's home preparation will be completed today for the game with Bucknell at Lewisburg, Saturday. The Presidents will entrain tonight at 8:25 o'clock for Sunbury, near Lewisburg, where the squad will hold its final workout.

ST. VINCENT SCORES 20-0 VICTORY

LATROBE, Pa., Nov. 12.—St. Vincent's well-drilled Bearcat eleven rolled up a 20-0 score on St. Francis here yesterday afternoon in the annual Armistice Day clash between the two institutions, so today the boys at St. Vincent are doing a right noble job of celebrating.

The Bearcats, piloted by Clem Crowe, who learned his football at Notre Dame and learned it well, carried entirely too many punches for the St. Francis entry. Two touchdowns in the first half, both scored in the second period, and another in the third provided the margin of triumph. The Bearcat attack was led by Halfback Harry Johnson, freshman star, who scored all three touchdowns and was on the receiving end of some clever passes and turned in a masterful defensive performance.

START GAME EVENLY

The teams battled through the first period with honors about even, but shortly before the quarter was over, the Cats took the ball on a punt on their own 26-yard line and opened a march that rallied the ball to the St. Francis 43. Evancho, Johnson and Furin alternated in lugging the ball on this march.

They kept it up as the second period got under way and finally, Furin faded back and let a long pass fly straight down the center, over the goal line and into the waiting arms of Johnson, who caught the ball on his knees under the very noses of two St. Francis defense men. Furin's try for the extra point via placement was low and wide.

A 26-yard excursion of Johnson around St. Francis' right end and two aerials one to Carney and one to Kirchner, both tossed by Furin, put the ball on the 15-yard line, from which point Johnson carried the ball to the goal line and then shot through right tackle for the score. This time Furin booted the old pigskin squarely between the uprights for the additional point.

In the third period the Bearcats battled the desperate Red Flashes on better than even terms and in the final stanza, just to demonstrate they had another touchdown punch stored away, Furin set a 28-yard heave so that Johnson caught and carried over the goal unmolested. Furin dropped another extra-point placement goal over the crossbar.

19-6 . . . He also played defensive halfback in this game.

Aultman scored five of Geneva's first seven touchdowns this season, and, with little experience in kicking, punted in great style when called upon, twice booting 65 yards in the air against Grove City. . . . Carrying the ball on the end-around play, he has gained half of the yardage piled up by Geneva. . . . He stands 5 feet 11 inches in his socks and scales 172 pounds and is a fine basketball guard and broke the Tri-State Conference record in the pole vault when he turned to this sport.

Grahame, a left-foot kicker and passer and fine field general, was the gent who tossed the winning passes to Aultman and has been sadly missed since he was kicked in the back during a game with Boston University at Boston. He will be back in action against Allegheny at Meadville on Saturday.

In addition to these former Akron stars, Coach Harpster has another outstanding luminary in the person of Allured (Slim) Ransom, the center, one of the best, if not the best, men at his position in the Western Pennsylvania collegiate ranks. . . . Coach Wally Steffen, of Carnegie Tech, when he saw Ransom play against Duquesne early in the season, pronounced him the best center he had gazed upon in years. . . . He is a fine passer and blocker and consistently knifes his way through the opposition. . . . He is a senior and has been an all-Conference selection each year he has been at Geneva and will retain that honor this year.

Buck McTiernan's plans are indefinite following his defeat by Ben Jeby in their bout at Motor Square Garden last Monday night . . . The Swissvale middleweight plans to remain in the ring, however, and may decide to build up his morale through a series of less important bouts at the smaller clubs before he attempts another fling against a front rank opponent, and believes he will be able to fight his way back to the top through hard work and frequent matches before the end of the year . . . His series of reverses undoubtedly have robbed him of his self-confidence, an' he realizes he must virtually start all over again at the bottom . . . Incidentally, his manager, Bunny Buntach, signified his willingness to have the referee halt the battle with Jeby when the official came to his corner at the end of the seventh round.

Fritzie Zivic, most recent of the fighting Zivic brothers in the professional ranks, who meets Steve Senich at the Garden next Monday, was a Boy Scout up to a year and a half ago, being a member of the troop of St. Mary's Church. . . . The latest on the West Point Cadets' activities at the Stadium Saturday is that they will strut their stuff on the field before the game only, from 1:15 to 1:45 p. m., and the band alone will be on the field between halves. . . . Which means that you'll have to get there early to be in on the drilling. . . . The reason the parading will not occur between halves is that there will not be sufficient time to get the 1,200 cadets out of the stands and onto the field and back into their seats again during the brief intermission period. . . . When you see "R. G." beside the name of a football player that doesn't mean regards, but simply that he's just another lineman.—HARRY KECK.

Schenley-Peabody Game at Allderdice

Due to repairs being made at Malone Field, the Section 1 championship game tomorrow between Schenley and Peabody will be played at Taylor Allderdice Field instead of Malone Field as originally scheduled.

Burke Carnegie, was first with a time of 11:44, followed by Blair Tech, 11:48 and Kulas, Tech, 11:57. Others were Hallman, Tech; Neff, Tech; Hommel, Tech; Adams, Tech; Bauman, Shady Side. JONES FAVORS PITT TO WIN OVER ARMY

By TAD JONES

Member All American Board of Football.

Saturday offers a great treat to those lovers of football who are less interested in mythical championships than in the intense rivalry of the old traditional game. On this date Fordham and N. Y. U. meet again in a contest that will attract greatest interest in the New York area. The winner of this game is anybody's guess. It should be very close.

Columbia and Brown have an old score to settle. Until completely overwhelmed by Holy Cross, Brown appeared to be on the way to a strong team, but Columbia also has tasted defeat in a close, hard battle with Cornell. Columbia appears to have the better chance for victory.

While these elevens are battling things out in lower New York, the upstaters will be agog over the Syracuse-Colgate game. Here is a contest which for partisan feeling and intense rivalry is second to none in the entire playing season. Of all the games to be played this is the most difficult to select a favorite, and I hesitate to do so, though will name Syracuse.

Pitt and Army will meet in Pittsburgh for the first time in history. Here are two fine elevens, but I believe Pitt will prove too strong for the Cadets. Army will find it next to impossible to make ground against the Panther line.

Carnegie Tech and Temple will have a close hard battle. Carnegie is not blessed with either experienced or reserve material, and I believe Temple may prove too strong for the Scots.

Harvard was able to squeak by Dartmouth, but now faces an assignment even more difficult in Holy Cross. A great deal has been said and more written about this Harvard eleven. Its strength must be admitted, though it is hardly invincible. I am inclined to believe that the Crimson underestimated Dartmouth and will not make this mistake against Holy Cross.

FIVE SCHOOL CONTENDERS TO SEE ACTION

By JULIUS LEVIN

Followers of scholastic football in Western Pennsylvania will see another reduction made in the field of contenders for the championship Saturday afternoon when the five aspirants for the district crown swing into action against powerful opponents.

Two undefeated elevens will lock horns at Ambridge where Coach Rusty Lomond and his Midland aggregation faces its toughest test of the season in Moe Rubenstein's eleven. While Ambridge's brilliant record is marred by two scoreless ties played with Monessen and Aliquippa, the valley team has shown enough in its contests to date to earn respect from Midland. If Midland can pass this test, the Crucibles stand an excellent chance of finishing the campaign undefeated.

CLAIRTON IN TEST

Coach George Woodman's Clairton eleven, likewise undefeated, also faces a tough opponent in Nate Lippe's Aliquippa machine at Clairton. Aliquippa, beaten by Washington, 54-6, has shown a big improvement since that early-season setback and may prove a stumbling block to the Monongahela Valley machine.

Out at Washington, Coach Hank Day's Little Presidents will be striving for their sixth straight victory by engaging Foxy Miller's Turtle Creek Union eleven, while McKeesport will go after its eighth in a row by tackling Homestead at McKeesport.

SCOTT AT NORWIN

Wilkinsburg and Butler battled to a scoreless tie in yesterday's big game in the immediate Pittsburgh sector. Crafton walloped Bridgeville, 33-0; Monessen downed Donora, 14-6; Har-Brack defeated Vandergrift, 26-0; Jeannette lost to Greensburg, 12-0, and Springdale beat Etna, 14-7.

The Charleroi-Redstone game, originally scheduled as a night fray in Charleroi tonight, has been changed to tomorrow afternoon.

SHARON PLAYS OILERS

Sharon will try to keep its record for the season intact by invading Oil City. Other games in that section find Titusville at Corry, Somerset at Westmont and Ridgway at Bradford.

Tomorrow afternoon the championship of the City League will hang in the balance when Schenley meets Peabody for the Section I crown at Allderdice and Carrick engages South Hills for the Section II toga at Oliver Field. Allderdice is at Westinghouse in the other Section I game, while Perry entertains Oliver and Langley is host to Allegheny in other Section II games.

Two "naturals" involving sectional rivals also are scheduled for tomorrow. Dormont and Mt. Lebanon renew an old feud at Dormont, while Bellevue and Avalon will clash on the Bellevue High Field.

French in Mound Victory in Japan

MAEBASHI GUMMA, Japan, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—The barnstorming team of major league baseball stars today defeated an all-Japan team, 14 to 1, behind the eight-hit pitching of Larry French, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, but the Japanese fans got one chance to cheer when Saburo Miyatake, one of the two Japanese pitchers used, slammed out a three-bagger.

BONESETTER ILL

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 12.—(AP.)—John D. Reese, nationally known as "Bonesetter Reese," has been confined to his home by illness for several days, it was learned today. A report from his home said that the 76 year-old healer's condition was "pretty fair." He has been subject to heart attacks for several months.

PIMLICO MUTUELS

regards the Pittsburgh array in exactly the same light. He was in the National League long enough to know that Arbour, Holmes and Ingram, former Chicago National Leaguers, are capable of adding materially to the Jackets' punch. Two of these speed boys, Arbour and Ingram, will be at the wings in the starting lineup. A defense made up of Albie Cox in goal and Gordy Fraser and Art Berlett at the points needs little strengthening. Joe Matte, recalled from Niagara Falls, will provide such relief as is required.

Amplifiers have been installed at the Craig street arena, and substitutions, penalties and scores will be announced during the progress of the play. The probable lineup:

Pittsburgh		Syracuse
Cox	G	Miller
Berlett	D	Hughes
Fraser	D	Tendler
Holmes	C	Wade
Ingram	W	Bellhouse
Arbour	W	Pelagio

ROONEYS OUT TO KEEP SLATE UNMARRED

By TOM BIRKS

East Liverpool will get its first taste of night football in the independent football conference tomorrow evening when Purl Daily's club tangles with the McKeesport Olympics at the Pottery Field.

While East Liverpool, Toronto, Steubenville and Salem have been hotbeds of independent football over a period of years, this tilt will mark the first time the famous black and white Olympic club has played across the bridge from West Virginia.

The big problem of Art Rooney for Sunday, now that he has copped the conference title, will be to keep his undefeated slate clean. Dan Burns club, of New Kensington, will be a formidable opponent.

Four games were played in the lightweight conference yesterday. Christy Park knocked off the Glendale Tigers, 14-0. West View Alumni tripped Export, 27-0; Pleasant Valley beat the Armstrong Bulldogs, 6 to 2, and the Bloomfield Civics bumped Kreigar-Marx, 8-3.

St. Rosalia, Knoxville, Harvey Snipes, Knox Ramblers, McNerney's, Aliquippa, Filo, Arsenal, Rox Rangers, Kiski, Lakewood, Sharpsburg Homewood, St. John's, Barney Cadets, Pittock Violets, Twenty-seventh Ward, Newark, Rox Ramblers and Blawnox also scored sandlot victories.

High Blood Pressure Shortens Life

Relief for high blood pressure and other health-destroying ailments that have kept thousands of sufferers in misery and doubt for years—is now seen in the modern discovery — BLOOD CELL PROTEIN SERUM.

The importance of this discovery cannot be denied when the life insurance companies refuse to issue policies to applicants with high blood pressure because it tends to shorten the span of life.

High blood pressure gives little warning, and until certain symptoms appear you are not aware of it. You may have head pains, hot flashes, flushed face, dizzy spells, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, nervousness and palpitation of the heart. Remember that HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE is a symptom and not a disease in itself—IT IS NATURE'S WARNING TO TAKE NOTICE.

WHY DRUG THE STOMACH WHEN YOUR BLOOD CELLS CONTROL MOST ALL CHRONIC DISEASES?

BANKERS STUDY REDUCTION OF U. S. DEBT

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Nov. 12.—The principal security creators and distributors of the country, at the closing session of the twentieth annual convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America here yesterday, considered ways and means of meeting the threatened federal deficit of $2,000,000,000 for the current fiscal year.

Opposing retroactive increases in federal income and corporation taxes, William H. Endy of Chase Harris Forbes Corporation, New York chairman of the committee on federal taxation whose report was accepted by the convention expressed the opinion that Congress would seek to augment public revenues with a selected sales tax. On this point the committee declared:

Mr. Rukeyser

"There has been much discussion as to the advisability of a general sales tax. A great deal of opposition to this method of increasing revenues, however, comes from industries which seem to be sufficiently well organized to make their objections effective, but it is not illogical to expect that special sales taxes may be imposed, although the probability of a general sales tax is remote.

"Owing to the proximity of a presidential election it is probable that both political parties will do their best to avoid sponsorship of any increase in the income tax. This is perhaps fortunate in that it may prevent the imposition of retroactive taxation to apply to 1931 incomes; for as a matter of simple justice retroactive taxation should always be avoided wherever possible."

The committee, which had previously recommended reduction of the federal tax on capital gains, today urged its complete elimination. Secretary Mellon has repeatedly urged reduction or elimination of this tax, which tends to put federal finances on a speculative basis.

The committee quite properly pointed out that the deficits do not reflect on federal credit, inasmuch as before the depression the government had been extinguishing public debt three times as fast as required under the statute.

Edward Hopkinson, Jr., of Drexel & Co., Morgan affiliate in Philadelphia, in reporting for the committee on state taxation, suggested definite machinery for coordinate federal, state and local taxes.

The convention formally approved the launching of the National Credit Corporation, the main arm in the Hoover economic relief program.

The two acquisitions were made by officials of the railroad companies without consulting the commission. In neither instance does the amount of stock purchased constitute control of the line.

The Gulf, Mobile and Northern Railroad, however, is assigned under the commission's consolidation plan to the Atlantic Coast Line System along with the Louisville and Nashville, the Clinchfield and other important lines.

Chartiers Railway Recapture Ordered

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Recapture of $269,482 from alleged excess income from the Chartiers Southern Railway Company in Pennsylvania was ordered today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The Commission found the road to have netted $538,965 in the four years between 1923 and 1926, inclusive, in excess of a 6 per cent return. The recapturable amount is half the excess.

The road owns approximately 13 miles of tracks in the Western Pennsylvania bituminous region. One section operates between Besco and Mather and the other from Crucible and Nemacolin. It has been operated since 1927 by the Monongahela Railway Company.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Activity and strength in German and French obligations featured the dull trading today in bonds. Fluctuations were narrowly irregular, but no outstanding weakness developed.

United States Treasury and Liberty loans continued extremely dull but showed a firm tone.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds to dollars and thirty seconds of dollars):

MARKET EASES AFTER EARLY UPTURN

List Shows Signs of Again Stiffening; Movement Narrow and Irregular

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(AP.)—A fresh setback in wheat was received calmly in Wall street today, and security markets maintained a fairly good undertone in quiet trading.

The stock market eased after an uptick in the first hour but showed signs of stiffening again after midday. Unofficial reports of progress toward a Franco-German agreement as to the method of procedure in seeking a new basis for reparations was widely hailed as distinctly encouraging and European government bonds generally pushed upward.

In the main the movement in stock prices was narrow and irregular. An early turn in rails was not held. Union Pacific advanced for a time but encountered profit taking after announcement of the regular $2.50 quarterly dividend. Radio and Radio Keith were trade heats declining about a point (the latter to a new low. General Electric, chief stockholder in Radio, sagged a point, then met support. American Telephone and United States Steel gained more than a point, early, yielded most of their gains and again pointed up. Air Reduction and Eastman rose nearly 3 then backed up.

The selling in Radio and Radio-Keith was generally attributed to the unsatisfactory situation in Radio-Keith as shown in the proposal for a reorganization and the issue of nearly $12,000,000 in debentures.

On the other hand it was pointed out that both Radio and its subsidiary are entering their active season, and that Radio's recent earnings statement showed considerable improvement over a year ago. A statement by Attorney General Mitchell that he had little hope of reaching an out-of-court settlement of the anti-trust suit against Radio may have accelerated the selling, although news that conferences are still going forward was favorably regarded in some quarters.

COTTON EASES AFTER RISE

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 2 to 5 points on trade buying and a good demand from commission houses. January sold up to 6.69c.

Offerings from the South were comparatively light. The buying may have been prompted by the relatively steady showing of Liverpool, and prices held steady during the early trading with December advancing to 6.62c and March to 6.88c, or about 7 to 10 points net higher by the end of the first half hour. Brokers supposed to be acting for the co-operative interests were sellers again this morning, but otherwise there seemed to be very little pressure against the market.

Liverpool cables reported covering and some buying. Egyptian futures in Liverpool were 8 to 12 points higher and the quotation for Indian cotton in the Liverpool spot market was 6 points higher.

The steadiness of silver contributed to the early advance but buying seemed to be checked by the decline in wheat and the market eased off late in the morning. December worked down to 6.54 and March to 6.82 with prices generally ruling within a point or two either way of yesterday's closing quotations. According to the New York Cotton Exchange service, domestic consumption for October amounted to 460,000 bales compared with 464,000 in September and 443,000 last year.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 12—Cotton—Spot, good business done; prices 4 points higher; quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 5.74; good middling, 5.34; strict middling, 5.14; middling, 5.02; strict low middling, 4.92; low middling, 4.79; strict good ordinary, 4.59; good ordinary, 4.29. Receipts, 12,000 bales, American, 11,900. Futures closed quiet and steady; December, 4.77; January, 4.76; March, 4.78; May, 4.83; July, 4.88; October, 4.96; December, 5.00.

Supply of Indian Cotton Smaller

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—On the basis of preliminary and tentative estimates of the current Indian crop, it appears that the total supply of Indian cotton in India will be materially less this season than in recent seasons, the New York Cotton Exchange Service reports. Ideas of the Indian crop recently have ranged from 5,000,000 to 5,500,000 400-pound bales, as weather conditions have varied from good to bad. Taking as a tentative working crop figure of 5,250,000 bales, the service says, the total supply in India available for Indian consumption and for export this season is 6,880,000 bales, against 7,592,000 bales last season, and 8,099,000 two seasons ago.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—Raw sugar was unchanged early today at 3.38c for spots with no sales reported.

Refined was unchanged at 4.50c for fine granulated, with a fair hand-to-mouth inquiry reported.

Steel Prices.

Forbes

Auto Men and Refrigeration Will Set Pace

By B. C. FORBES

THE AUTOMOBILE industry, in my opinion, will do more than any other to stimulate the early return of prosperity.

Mr. Forbes

Its leaders are doing more than the leaders of any other industry to bring out improved merchandise to whet the public's appetite—and plan greater sales campaigns, greater advertising expenditures, more enterprising sales promotion than any other one industry.

Since almost everyone agrees that a renewal of buying is the first thing needed to set business going merrily, the importance of the motor industry's impending program cannot easily be exaggerated.

TAKE AS A typical example of the initiative and enterprise of motor companies, what Buick has done and is all set to do. A demonstration of Buick's new line of cars and an outline of its plans were given a large gathering of dealers in New York this week and, as President Sloan of General Motors afterward remarked to me:

This one motor company will offer no fewer than 26 different models. As P. J. Poag, assistant sales manager, explained to me:

"We decided to build 26 models to make certain that we can take care of the needs of every individual—the doctor, the business man, the family man, the modern young man and young woman who like a sporty car, everybody in any line of life, with a price range to suit almost everyone."

FORD IS GETTING ready to introduce an improved car. So is almost every General Motors unit. So I was told recently in Detroit, is practically every motor manufacturer in America.

The public is to be offered more attractive and more meritorious cars either at no advance in price or at actual reductions. There has been unprecedently keen buying of materials by motor makers. They have acted on the assumption that it will take more than ordinary bargains to arouse the buying public from its timid mood.

ANOTHER INDUSTRY which has battled valiantly against depression, and promises to achieve still bigger things, is electric refrigeration.

When I recently visited Copeland's main plant, President Louis Ruthenberg revealed that net sales for the last 11 months increased fully 20 per cent over 1930. How was it done?

New features were introduced both in the product and in advertising. A contest, for example, which ran 10 weeks, sent sales up 60 per cent, without undue cost. The company brought out a room cooler, thus tapping an unlimited field which has hardly been touched.

AMERICAN INDUSTRY has not lost its ingenuity. Energy, initiative, enterprise and courage promise to dispel gloom and to start wheels—and trade—humming afresh.

THE LOVE TRAP -:- Story of a Girl's Struggle For Love and Happiness -:- By ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

CHAPTER XIX

Mary walked along beside Bill Calvert, silent because she was choking down the protest that threatened to leap from her lips in wild ironic bursts. What did it matter if Bill Calvert was gentle and kindly and likable! He was her enemy . . . he was here to wreck her happiness . . . to fight with fair words for his sister . . . he was here to sunder her from Steve.

But she would have to fight him with his own weapon. It would be guile against guile, sympathy versus understanding . . . a slight advantage lay with the man: he had been trained, schooled in the usages of breeding and poise. Mary gathered all her forces together, tried to tune her nerves to the one correct pitch. Not that she was ever shrill or strident—but she could not afford to waste any emotional energy.

"Steve hasn't written me for two days," she said. "Do you know why?"

She could see a troubled expression settle around his mouth. "Shall I tell you the truth, Miss Kennedy?"

"Yes, please."

"Because I asked him not to write you. I didn't think it was fair to Eileen."

She stared at him with bewildered eyes. "You mean to tell me," she said, her voice shaking, "that Steve stopped writing me . . . because you told him to?"

"Steady, Miss Kennedy." He touched her arm with his hand, a kindly gesture. "Hear me out. I have a little better plan than letter writing—it may save a lot of heartbreak later on. It would be wonderful if your love affair with Steve concerned only you two, but, unfortunately, Eileen is involved. I'm sure she loves him as much as you do, and I think, is entitled to equal consideration."

INVITED TO HIS HOME

"No, that's not true!" Mary contradicted. "Steve loves me, and not Eileen, if you will forgive me for saying so."

"If Steve's love and yours is true and lasting, nothing on earth will ever keep you apart," Bill Calvert told her quietly. "But its very suddenness might mean that it was only infatuation—I'd like to see you and Steve and Eileen all guarded against that possibility. I stayed awake all one night thinking about it, trying to be fair to everybody. Don't think I'm butting in, please—my sister's happiness is very important to me. You see, she has counted so long and so happily on marrying Steve. I don't want her to lose him on a fumble, so to speak."

"But what are you going to do?" she asked in staccato jerks.

"I'm going to suggest the fairest and squarest solution I can think of. I came down here to invite you up to our home to stay with us while Steve is there. I want him to see you both together.' Please, come, Miss Kennedy—you'll be an honored guest I assure you. Perhaps Steve's attachment for Eileen was only infatuation—in that case, I have nothing to say. But if he could see you both together, and then, if he still knew that he loved you—I would have nothing more to say in Eileen's behalf. The thing that hurts me is that Steve—with all respect to you—was sort of snatched away from her behind her back."

SEES DISADVANTAGES

"Does Steve know about this idea of yours?"

"Yes. He didn't like it—but agreed because I urged him to."

"Did you talk it over with your parents and your sister—"

"All of them. They are, of course, tremendously distressed. At first they wouldn't listen to me. Eileen was the hardest to convince—the poor kid's heartbroken, you know. As a matter of fact she really disapproves, but I got my way with father and mother. Do you see what I'm trying to do—how hard I'm working to play square all around?"

A bland smile came to Mary's lips. "Yes, I see what you're trying to do. And you call it fairness!"

"Oh, can I point out any unfairness!" she cried, uncontrollably derisive. "Yes, Eileen ought to be glad of a chance like that. Wouldn't it be nice for her to get me up there on her ground—surrounded by her own family! Bring the shabby, little Brooklyn girl up to a big mansion, and let Steve see how much cooler and sweeter Eileen would look. Oh, yes, her fine clothes and her easy familiarity with everything that money buys would make me look pretty cheap and crushed. She knows I'm not used to chauffers and butlers and beautiful things—I'd be like a fish out of water. Oh, she'd wouldn't have a chance on earth. If I'd had money and cars and training lavished on me, I'd have a gloss too—but I haven't. And you call that fairness! Do you know what I call it, Mr. Calvert—I call it crooked."

DIFFERENT CONDITIONS

Beneath his tan, Bill Calvert grew pale. Then a flash burned in his cheeks. He lifted one hand—and dropped it.

"I never meant to frame a rotten deal on you. I only wanted to do something to give Eileen a fair chance."

"A fair chance!" Mary's voice rang with a little wildness. "If you want to give Steve a fair chance to compare us—let her come down here and live like I do. Let her work all day in an office and pay for her own clothes and board and room on $25 or $30 a week. Let her skimp and save and stare so she can buy a new hat! Yes, and let her quit a dozen jobs because the boss gets fresh. Let her be jammed around on the subway and pay for her cheap winter coat on the installment plan. Give her four or five years of that, and see how sweet and delicate and refined she'll be. Put her through the same mill I've been through, and you can bet your life I won't be afraid to meet her on even terms, any day in the week!"

The passion in Mary's voice shook her to the core of her being. She was trembling all over, breathing with difficulty. Suddenly—she had no power to control her feelings longer—she jerked away from Bill Calvert and sped in the opposite direction . . . back toward the poor refuge of her sister's crowded flat . . .

INSTINCT OF PRIDE

Mary's flight home was a rout, a panic of her emotions. She could brave any danger—could endure any sufferings—but there was a new kind of pain stabbing her with a thousand daggers . . .

Was Steve's love beginning to fade?

She hurried on through the dark lonesome streets, dark shadows, suddenly, appeared under her eyes, but the fast beating of her heart brought a strange brightness to the eyes themselves. Even now some fundamental instinct of pride asserted itself, and her gold head was erect, her step valiant, that no chance passerby might suspect the wolves that were tearing at her heart . . .

She couldn't believe that Steve had deliberately put this blow upon her. But why had he allowed Bill Calvert to come upon such an errand? She had always thought Steve was so strong—had he turned weakling? Was his love so fragile that it bent to every passing fancy? Had Eileen's tears so moved him that he was beginning to regret his little love excursion in New York? Had the Calvert family appealed to his chivalry, his sense of honor? Ah, but it was hard to believe anything against Steve! Her love defended him; he hated to hurt people; merely, he had wanted to make the break with Eileen as painless as possible. He was sentimental, loyal, chivalrous. Being a mere man, how could he have foreseen that Bill Calvert's proposition would have hurt her?

SEEKS PRIVACY

Yes, he was dumb about women—but he was dear, he was lovable . . . he was the vital essence of her whole life. She wanted to be alone now, to hide herself like a wounded little animal. Oh, she wanted time to think, privacy to tend her hurt. Now, tonight, if she went up to the flat, the family would be all over her, she was afraid the sound of their voices might send her into wild weeping of hysteria. The strain of the last two weeks had been tremendous, her nerves were frazzled. She wanted to be alone . . . alone . . .

But where, in the great city, is there privacy for the poor? She sat down on the stoop of the apartment house and leaned sidewise against the iron railing. It was as good a place as any. The memory of Steve's humorous smile, the magic of his embrace and kisses, his joking way of speech flooded over her and tears ran down her hot cheeks. Bravely she dabbed them away with her handkerchief and dried her eyes. Maybe she would have a whole lifetime in which to weep . . .

Bill Calvert, in surprise, had watched Mary flee from him, but before she had gone a block he followed her, his face serious and perplexed. And now he caught up with her as she sat huddled and disconsolate on the stoop. He stood there some time before she was aware of his presence.

WANTED TO BE FAIR

"Well, I'm afraid I've made you hate me," he said awkwardly.

"I don't hate you. I suppose it's right for you to stand up for your sister, and try to get Steve back for her—"

"If it's wrong for her to have Steve, then I'm against her having him," he returned pacifically. "And really you're wrong about something else. I didn't want to get you up there to show you in a poor light beside Eileen. As a matter of fact, you could stand up beside any girl without suffering. But if I tried to put over on you a scheme that you thought I did, why, I ought to be taken out and shot! Of course, I can see that it looked like a low-down deal to you—but it wasn't meant that way. I want you to believe me, Miss Kennedy."

"It doesn't matter," she said. "I'm not in a mood for understanding anything at all tonight."

"You don't realize what a delicate position I am in," Bill Calvert went on earnestly. "Everything I said to you tonight was well meant. Of course, I'll admit now that I didn't see things—in the light you put them. Perhaps you are right that you might appear to some disadvantage in Eileen's home. But it was all my own idea—not Eileen's. I simply thought it was a sporting sort of notion, but I didn't think far enough ahead to get your angle."

"Oh, I don't think you actually meant to be unfair," she told him miserably. "But it would have given your sister a beautiful chance to show me up."

"Not at all," he protested. "You see, you didn't let me finish everything I started to say. I think you wouldn't be at any particular disadvantage at all because—because I don't think Steve would notice such matters very much. The truth is—Steve keeps asking for you all the time. He—" Bill stopped, a frown furrowed his brow.

STEVE INJURED

"Is there anything—the matter?" she asked with swift poignance.

"There is nothing seriously the matter," he assured, carefully. "I didn't want to alarm you, but Steve has had an accident. We were out riding and he was thrown from a horse. His neck might have been broken, but it wasn't. He will have to stay in bed for a while and keep very quiet—but he's going to pull through."

"You're not telling me the truth—he may be dying!" she sprang to her feet, clutching at Bill's arm. "Don't lie to me!"

"Don't get excited." He put his hand on her shoulder and forced her to sit down again on the stoop. "It was a close call, but he is getting along fine. If I had not been sure of that—how could I have talked to you about his engagement, and so forth? Perhaps I was a fool at that, to get into such deep water. But, whether or no, I must take you back home with me. Steve wants you, and I promised to bring you."

"Yes, yes! I must go to him!" She stared at Bill Calvert with wild eyes, but she was not seeing him at all. The picture in her mind showed only Steve bandaged and pale on a bed. That was why he had not written! Ah, he wanted her! In his hours of helplessness he still loved! What help, what comfort, could Eileen bring to him at a time like this?

"As soon as I can pack—in 15 minutes," she told him vibrantly. "I'll meet you right here."

"I'm going away to spend some time with some friends," she told them with rapid indifference. "Don't worry about me—I'll be all right, darlings. I'm not going for pleasure—somebody is sick and needs my help. Don't ask questions!" She stopped her ears against their importunities. They dared not even follow her down the stairs.

In Bill Calvert's long gray roadster, she left the lights of the city speedily behind, and the machine settled down for its swift flight through the night . . .

"Unfortunately Eileen is involved," said Bill Calvert.

She jerked away from him and walked away.

What Has Gone Before

Pretty Mary Kennedy breaks her engagement to the elderly but wealthy sports promoter, Buck Landers, when she falls in love with his young ward, Steve Moore. Landers kidnaps Steve and threatens him unless Mary marries him. Mary flirts with Landers' henchman, Bat, to gain his confidence. She learns of Steve's whereabouts and goes there alone. In a dingy flat, Mary is confronted by two thugs who deny all knowledge of Steve. They hold her and 'phone Landers. Landers arrives and orders his men out. When Landers refuses to leave, Mary shoots at him. He flees. Mary releases Steve and they escape. Steve confesses to Mary that he is engaged, but he loves her. Mary has misgivings when Steve plans a visit to Eileen Calvert, his fiancee, to explain the situation. Steve goes to the Calvert home to break his engagement with Eileen. Several days later Eileen's brother visits Mary. Mary believes he wants to stop her marriage to Steve.

Just Knowing You Can

Just knowing you can plays a mighty share
In the dreams you dream and the deeds you dare,
For this knowledge of power is the greater part
Of the courage that wells in the hopeful heart.
Just be able to say (and to know it is true)
"I can," and your project is half-way through!

Just knowing you can, what a glow it brings,
What a joy in the being stirs and sings,
As the feeling of strength and the will to do
In triumph goes coursing your pulses through!
Why, no chance and no change can conquer the man
Who sets out on his labors just knowing he can!

'A Man or a Nation Must Be Honest Alone'

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph:

We cannot boycott either Japan or China in their conflict, first because we do not actually know which is right, and second because such a hostile act would amount to taking active sides in the war, and would be virtually an act of war.

It would indeed probably involve us in further participation in the war.

Yet it certainly seems that the idea of contraband of war could be extended so that no nation would or could supply any warring nations with war materials.

It is horribly hypocritical for us to prate of peace while we encourage war by supplying all the necessities of war to battling nations.

How can we claim to be opposed to war when we take advantage of a state of conflict to fill our pockets with the profits on the materials we supply to continue the war?

Nothing is more contemptible than hypocrisy. It is the vilest of vices.

If, therefore, we SAY we are opposed to war, let us be opposed to making a hideous profit in blood money out of war's death and destruction.

If we prefer money to morality, let us at least stop being peace Pecksniffs, and frankly avow our greed and callous cruelty.

Our attitude may not be admired, but it will at any rate escape contempt.

We could in such case take our place with Brittania, the dope peddler.

She frankly admits that she peddles dope because she wants the money—the same base motive that actuates every other dope peddler in or out of jail.

We could make our blood money from war and still clasp hands with proud Albion, who makes hers from dope.

Or, if we preferred decent company, we could stand by ourselves.

There is no mob morality.

A man or a nation must be honest alone.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

A State Income Tax

Some Impressive Arguments Are Advanced in Favor Of the Proposed Levy.

The demand that the rich bear a larger share of the state tax burden is steadily becoming stronger.

Gov. Pinchot voiced the feeling in his message to the Legislature when he said:

"There are men, and not a few men, in the state of Pennsylvania whose share of the general wealth is so great that each of them, out of his private fortune, alone and by himself, could carry the state's whole burden of feeding, housing and clothing the unemployed, as it must be carried this winter. Each of several men could do that and still leave himself so much money that neither he nor his family need ever deprive themselves of any comfort or any luxury throughout their long lives."

The Governor virtually said in his message that he would have advocated a state income tax to tap these huge fortunes but for the fact that the enactment of such a tax would unquestionably be followed by long litigation.

Others are not so diffident. Senator Woodward, of Philadelphia, is carrying on vigorous propaganda for an income tax, and the State Federation of Labor has sent letters to 500 farm leaders, asking their support for the plan.

The Federation asserts on the authority of the United States Treasury Department that in 1928 there were 3,880 persons in Pennsylvania with incomes of between $50,000 and $5,000,000 a year. They received $534,443,851, an average of $137,743 apiece, and a greater total than the total income of 500,000 average workers.

The Federation calls for immediate enactment of a straight 5 per cent income tax and the submission to the people of a constitutional amendment to provide for a graduated income tax, now forbidden. The plan for the 5 per cent tax calls for a discount of $500 for prompt payment, which means that incomes up to $10,000 would not be taxed.

On the other hand there are those who say that justice demands that if an income tax is imposed everyone shall be required to pay his share. This idea is embodied in a proposed bill providing for a tax of one-half of one per cent on the income of every person over 16 years old.

This is probably the most important matter that will come before the Legislature. A policy may be chosen that will affect the economic welfare of the people long after the emergency has passed. A vital change in the state's revenue-collecting system may be established.

It is up to the citizens to watch developments closely and to let their representatives in the Legislature know their views.

Election Crimes

Continuation of the Inquiry Into Cheating and Intimidation Is Encouraging.

Politicians and election officials who cheated, intimidated voters or violated the election laws in any other way must be rather uneasy these days, even if they have not yet been arrested.

For the rate at which informations are being filed by representatives of the Independent Republicans, the Registration Commission and other organizations interested in the preservation of honest elections indicates that a thorough housecleaning is under way.

Within the last few days prosecutions have been instituted against persons accused of election crimes in Carnegie, Wilmerding, North Versailles Township, Patton Township, Harwick, the Twelfth Ward of Pittsburgh and other places.

If only half of the charges are true, it is evident that the elections have been honeycombed with dishonesty in all parts of the county.

The continuation of the inquiry, and the dogged persistence shown by the prosecutors at this late date after the election are encouraging. A disposition is manifest to assure the purity of Allegheny County elections without regard to the effect on the personal fortunes of any candidate.

It is a commendable spirit, and with the sending of the election crooks, no matter how numerous they may be, to jail, there is hope that the people may be able hereafter to go to the polls in full confidence that they will be permitted to vote as they choose and that their votes will be counted honestly.

Cut The Tangle

By Nelson Harding

A struggling swimmer bucks the tide
That soon must carry him away—
A man in danger sees with fear
His would-be rescuer delay.

In slow untangling of the line—
Perhaps it is too much to hope
That in this grave emergency
The rescuer will cut the rope.

Italy: Wonderful Peninsula

What Wonderful Men and Women Have Lived in That Little Boot-Shaped Country.

MARCONI, WITH WIFE AND THEIR DAUGHTER, ELLETRA

It is a pleasure to print, for readers of Italian descent, and for the edification and instruction of all readers, this fine picture of a great inventor, Marconi, his lovely wife and daughter.

All the world knows the work of Marconi, to whom the world owes wireless telegraphy, and all the other discoveries that have followed it.

Giving to the world, power to talk AROUND THE WORLD without wires, Marconi has added one to the long list of great men and women, that have lived on that Italian peninsula, that runs out into the Mediterranean, in southern Europe, with the beautiful Adriatic, on one side, and Africa just across the Mediterranean.

Here you see Marconi, and in your imagination, you see a long line of others that have added glory to the word ITALY. You see Michael Angelo, painter, sculptor, and architect of magnificent genius, greatest artist that has ever lived on this earth.

And beside him you see Raphael, Leonardo and others that have no equals, except in the history of Italian, or Greek art.

You see, before the Christian era, at work on his scientific problems, the great Archimedes, of whom it is said, truly, that he dominated the world with useful science, for a thousand years after his death.

You see Julius Caesar, greatest soldier that ever lived, excepting, perhaps, the Macedonian Alexander, and Napoleon, himself an Italian, who was kept "in mental cold storage" on the Island of Corsica, released to terrify and dominate the earth, and die a prisoner of the English.

You see the great geniuses of Italy, working for the world's welfare, the Gracchi, and their noble mother, in whom the passionate love of freedom was born too soon for realization.

You see the Emperor, Marcus Aurelius, most perfect character, most just, unselfish ruler, that has ever lived.

You see that wonderful woman, the wife of a Roman, condemned to die, by his own hand. When he hesitated to carry out the sentence, his wife, to preserve his honor and save him from the taint of fear, took the dagger from his hand, plunged it into her own heart, and dying, said with an even voice Non dolet Paege; "It does not hurt, Paetus," Then encouraged, he followed her example.

Standing high above all others, in Italian history, you see the noble Galileo, a student of the universe, who taught the world that the earth is round, and travels around the sun, giving a lesson in celestial mechanics, that will last forever. It cost him his liberty and nearly cost him his life, but it brought him immortality that will never fade.

It is said that when President Wilson made his famous trip to Europe, many Italians took down the picture of Garibaldi, and put Wilson up instead. They have probably put Garibaldi back in his place by this time.

You see in Italian history the splendid name of DANTE, who stands among the three greatest names, in the literature of the world—HOMER, DANTE, SHAKESPEARE.

The Italian roll call of Italian greatness is a list of shining honor. Bear that in mind, and remember with the great Italians of the past, the magnificent inventor whose face you see here, and the powerful Mussolini, whose strength of will saved Italy in the world's great crisis.

Do not be one of the "little ignorant" Americans, that criticize Italy, and her people, because they know nothing about them.

Marry-Go-Round

We're All 'Suckers'

Texas Guinan was right! She called everybody a "sucker"—and she never missed her guess. We're ALL suckers.

I could go on blushing, all day, just by recalling the times I've been a "sucker." I LOVE to be bunked. And, if nobody will bunk me, I'll bunk myself.

Being a "sucker" is so nice—while it lasts. I love to believe that the attractive man, who tells me (after his second cocktail) that I am his "dream-woman-just-come-true," really means it—or at least one-half-of-one-per-cent of it.

I love Christmas Eve—that magic day, when we BELIEVE that tomorrow will bring us all the gifts we've been praying for, instead of just a headache and a hangover, and a lot of junk to be thrown away.

I love to believe that the delicious, beautifully-colored drink I'm sipping IS real "pre-war stuff." And that the tonic or the patent-medicine is full of vitamins, and will really give me back my pep. And that my ticket is going to win the next sweepstakes.

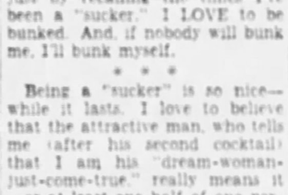
And that the marvellous "facials" will make me look like milk and roses. And that I've got a real BARGAIN at the "bargain sale." And that the new face-powder will stick.



Suckers? Of COURSE, we're all suckers! We're suckers when we're born into this life, which begins with cutting our teeth and ends in losing them. We're suckers when we fall in love—and think we've discovered the only perfect man or the only ideal woman in the world. And suckers, when we marry, under the delusion that WE'RE going to be "different" and ecstatically happy!

But, if we weren't suckers, and didn't BELIEVE that something wonderful was waiting for us "just around the corner"—that big break, that perfect lover, that golden gift of Fate—we just couldn't carry on! We should all die of boredom or ennui or acidosis.

* * *

Dorothy Parker sang the Suckers' Doxology, when she wrote—

"Three things there be, I shall have 'till I die—
"Laughter and hope—and a sock in the eye!"

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The Manhattan mania for public recognition results in many amusing gestures by seekers of the glare. The orchestra leader in a big cafe recently received a note enclosing a hundred dollar bill. It read: "My name is Smith. I'm at table No. 14. Please come over and greet me as an old friend."

At a big theatrical opening, the arrivals of notables was broadcast. A gentleman sidled up to the announcer and whispered: "I'm bringing a lady shortly. She thinks I'm a big shot. Call out my name when I step out of the taxi and you get a big check tomorrow."

Then there are the brazen who will walk up to Mayor Walker in crowds with: "Hello Jimmy. How's my old pal?" The Mayor, like many others similarly accosted, fears the total stranger may be someone he has met and the response to such greetings is usually cordial.

Celebrities are frequently aroused late at night by telephone calls from those talking to impress others who may be listening. The victims may protest with: "I don't know you." But this cannot be heard. What may be heard is: "I just called up to accept your invitation for lunch tomorrow."

Also there are dinner hosts who are interrupted by couriers with telegrams reading: "Sorry I can't be with you—Ethel Barrymore." Or: "Forced to leave town at last minute. My deep regrets—Otto Kahn." And others in the same tone sent, of course, by hosts themselves.

Unconfirmed stories are current of a radio announcer being offered a certified check for $5,000 to mention flatteringly a promoter of doubtful stock. He declared this recognition would be worth many times that in giving him an undeserved standing.

Paul Whiteman in his days at the old Palais Royal used to play "straight" to those patrons who tingled over celebrity contacts. But on one occasion his graciousness proved a boomerang. He was called to a certain table where a gentleman with a lady inquired: "Do you know me, Whiteman?" Paul gallantly responded: "Certainly I know you." And added brightly: "One of our best customers." To his surprise the gentlemen said coolly: "Now you know you never saw me in your life. My wife has been accusing me of playing the cabarets and I brought her here to prove I was absolutely unknown."

* * *

I had never known a newspaperman to whom the aroma of a print shop did not bring a distinct nostalgia long after he quit the calling. That is until yesterday. The exception was a man who city edited a Park Row paper for years. He said: "Every whiff of printer's ink causes me to shudder and almost snap the cookies over wasted years."

* * *

One of the potent speak-easy libations is "The Eagle." Edward G. Robinson dizzied by one, inquired the name, was told and exclaimed: "I got the beak, claws and tail feathers in mine."

* * *

Chance played a conspicuous part in Robinson's career, by the way. He had been one of the innumerable character actors along Broadway for years, essaying the role of tottering old men with long beards. A brief bit as a big shot gangster in "The Racket" excited Hollywood producers and stardom followed.

* * *

Two former chorus girls went to prison within the month. One declared the father of her child was a married man just dead. It was proved the child was adopted out of an orphanage. The other tried to share in the estate as a common law wife of a man against whom she once filed a breach of promise suit and for whom she signed a complete affidavit of release. Prison is too good for such ghouls. And the Bar Association not investigating fully is shamefully lax.

* * *

Bruce Reynolds, author, playwright, globe trotter and Kentucky gentleman, is the Lambs most sensational sartorialist. Almost every week he springs a surprise in the way of spats, vest, scarf pin, grotesque finger ring or walking stick. Long before Ralph Barton looped a ring around his necktie Reynolds had introduced the idea.

* * *

A dear old gentleman dropped in today in a funk over receiving what those in advanced years call "second sight." He gloomed: "All the fun old folks have is hunting for their glasses."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

The room is untidy—perhaps filthy. It is filled with ugly, depressing objects. It would make you miserable to stay in that room. It would spoil your day. You have no time to clean the room. Perhaps it is not your room to clean. So you go out of that room and shut the door behind you.

You shut the door behind you, and as you shut it, you forget that room. You remove the memory of it from your mind as you have removed the sight of it from your eyes. Then you go ahead with your work or your play and proceed to build a useful, happy day.

You shut a door.

That's a simple act . . .

But it's also one of the most significant acts on earth. Life couldn't go on unless we were able to shut doors behind us and go out to other things.

Life ISN'T going on for many people because they haven't shut doors behind them. They have shut physical doors—BUT THEY HAVE NOT SHUT MENTAL DOORS.

Did it ever occur to you that you must shut the door of your mind if you are ever to succeed in life?

You must. And you can. You can protect your mind as surely as you can protect your body. You can shut doors on the things you do not wish to remember or to consider. You can shut your mind against all sorts of mental trash and filth and ugliness—

You can shut your mind against the demoralizing memories of remorse and grief and anger and fear. You can shut the door on ANYTHING YOU WISH.

Nor do you need to be very strong or very smart to do this. It is one of the simplest exercises of the human will. A child can learn to do it. As a matter of fact, most children do it unconsciously. Children put unpleasant experiences behind them very easily and quickly. They think what they please—and often we consider them cold-blooded little monsters because they do.

You CAN shut mental doors and you are neither very mature nor very civilized unless you do so.

We think it is a sign of sensitiveness to "live in the past" . . . to "feel things terribly" . . . be unable to shake ugly, unhappy impressions. But it is not a sign of sensitiveness. IT IS A SIGN OF LAZINESS . . . OF MENTAL SLOVENLINESS AND WEAKNESS.

You have no more right to waste your time and energy by sitting upon the secret places of your brain and heart than you have to allow some filthy, diseased tramp to invade the rooms of your beautiful home.

"We can't control our own thoughts, can we?" How often have you heard that whining alibi? That's the tragic part of it—we have been allowed to grow up in the belief that we CAN'T control our own thoughts. We teach little children millions of silly, useless things, but we never teach them the one fundamental and most important fact in healthy living—namely—WE CAN CONTROL OUR OWN THOUGHTS.

"Well, I've never seen anyone doing it!" you snort.

Yes, you have. Every inventor, every creator, does it. Must do it. Newspaper writers, for example—they learn to write, regardless of what is happening in their personal lives. I have known men and women who wrote, because they HAD to write, while their children lay dying. And of actors who acted—with their hearts breaking.

You CAN shut a door. It's your greatest power as a man. You're not fit to be called a man unless you do it.

GIRL TEACHER DIES IN PLUNGE OF CAR

Light Burning All Night In Home Leads to Identity Of Woman Hit on Street

Three persons, two women and a man, were killed in auto accidents last night. One of the women victims was a Forward Township school teacher, the other was a Mt. Lebanon widow. The third victim was a man from Wilkinsburg. Several others were injured in the crashes.

A light that had burned in her home all night, today led to the identification of Mrs. Mary R. Stevenson, 70, widow, of 56 Woodhaven drive, Mt. Lebanon. The body had lain all night in the morgue, after Mrs. Stevenson had been killed by an auto, said to have been driven by William O. Smith, of Longue Vue drive, in Washington road.

IDENTITY CLEARED

Today a neighbor noticed the light burning in the Stevenson home and reading of the accident and noticing that the initials engraved in a wedding ring of the victim corresponded with those of Mrs. Stevenson, she called Mrs. Virginia S. Mershon, 10 Cornell place, Mt. Lebanon, a daughter. Mrs. Mershon later identified the body. She said she had left her mother at 7:45 o'clock last evening when the latter went for a walk.

Miss Louise Landerbaugh, 20, of Frye Station, Forward Township school teacher, was killed when the car in which she and two companions were riding plunged from a secondary highway over a 50-foot bank onto the Elizabeth shortcut road, near East Monongahela.

COLLISION FATAL

Three persons are recovering in Citizens General Hospital, New Kensington, today, following a fatal auto collision between three automobiles in Freeport road last evening. William B. Lafferty, 23, of 1732 Maplewood avenue, Wilkinsburg, died in the hospital last night. Harry Lafferty, 18, his brother, with a sprained back; Clark Caldwell, 47, of 262 Oakwood avenue, Pittsburgh, with a probable skull fracture, and Mrs. Gladys Slonaker, 32, of Leechburg, with head and body injuries, are in the hospital. The accident occurred near the New Kensington bridge.

Frank Donohue, 38, of 3812 Melwood street, suffered a broken collar bone early today when his automobile overturned after striking a parked automobile in Butler street at Forty-eighth street. He was removed to St. Francis Hospital.

Mrs. Marie Oelslager, 76, of 115 Ormsby avenue, was injured late yesterday when hit by a truck near her home. The truck, police say, was driven by Francis Weitz, of 267 Ormsby avenue.

Christmas Jingle 'Punch' Lines Bring Fun, Cash

Stores Stocked With Holiday Bargains For Prize Winners

The Sun-Telegraph "Christmas Jingles" have been launched to put you in mind that Christmas is not far away—that now is the time to do your Christmas shopping. The stores are loaded with more attractive merchandise than ever before at this time of the year and at unheard of prices.

In the meantime you can match your wits with the "Christmas Jingle" Editor of the Sun-Telegraph. Help him out. Give him your idea of a last line for the uncompleted jingle he brings to you every day—the jingle that calls for a snappy ending.

Well, there are hundreds of readers of the Sun-Telegraph who know their limericks—meaning the jingles. The first mail this morning brought in a stack of last lines for "Christmas Jingles" No. 1 published yesterday. These were the "early birds" because the answers to No. 1 do not have to be in the mail until midnight tonight.

The Jingle Editor had a big job wished on himself when he suggested this as an idea to make the public Christmas conscious, but as the ace of Broadway columnists, Mark Hellinger, would say, it's "All In a Day," so let's jingle away and distribute some money for Christmas.

All readers of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, with the exception of employes, are invited to enter the "Christmas Jingle" contest. You can send in as many last lines as you like. Equal awards will be paid to readers whose answers are tied in the judging. You do not have to buy a Sun-Telegraph to enter this contest. You may examine the files of this newspaper at the public library or at any one of the offices of the Sun-Telegraph, where you may make a tracing of the "Christmas Jingle" blank if you wish.

Here is an opportunity to bring your mind to Christmas with a chance of profit financially—an opportunity to win some of the cash you may need for early Christmas shopping.

Each Sun-Telegraph "Christmas Jingle" will be consecutively numbered.

2 GIRL CLERKS HELD UP BY GUNMEN

Weste n Union Branch in East Liberty, North Side Store Robbed by Bandits

The guns of holdup men last night held at bay girl clerks in two business establishments.

Obeying the commands of two white men who entered the East Liberty branch of the Western Union Telegraph Company, 114 North Highland avenue, Miss Mildred Hart, of 2336 Sidney street, was forced into a rear room while the cash register was looted of $12.

Miss Hart's version of the holdup was:

"Two men entered. They came behind the counter, and one of them forced me into a back room, telling me everything would be all right if I would keep quiet. I heard them take the money from the cash drawer and go. I called police."

Miss Catherine Cogan, of 3226 California avenue, was held at bay while two bandits attempted to loot a locked till in the store of the Luther Catering Company, 3326 California avenue.

After the robbers departed, Miss Cogan reported the robbery to police. The radio car arrived in time to see the bandits' getaway. They lost the chase in Riverview Park.

Detroit Provides More Work and More Dodging

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Motor car news from Detroit is as cheerful as a cow with two tails in fly-time.

Over 200,000 new cars must be built inside of 60 days. It affects us all. Workingmen must build 'em. People must buy 'em and we all have got to dodge 'em.

Cotton, grain and silver are sprouting happy reports and everything will be okay if Roger Babson doesn't take another bath in red ink.

Babson and Forbes both predicted the depression and the recovery. It was a question of holding on and waiting. Another inch on Father Time's beard will just about cure anything.

Human beings are the only people who panic themselves when things go wrong. A tadpole loses his tail and comes back stronger with a set of hind legs, a snake sluffs his skin and emerges prettier than ever, a moose drops his horns in the spring and gets a better and bigger set in the fall.

We can learn things from animal life even if we hate to find it in roasted chestnuts.

Bloomfield Board To Meet Tonight

The regular meeting of the Bloomfield Board of Trade will be held this evening at 4722 Liberty avenue.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 12.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Old Hollywood is just like a desert water hole in Africa. Hang around long enough and every kind of animal in the world will drift in for refreshments. A mess of newspapermen arrived from all over our destitute land on their yearly periodical. There wasn't an odorless breath in a carload. They are supposed to be holding business meetings, but the meetings are with our "scream scars." The "moulders of public opinion" have been moulded into the "orgies" of Hollywood.

Yours for a respectable press,
WILL.

HOUSE DRIVE TO BE OPENED SUNDAY

Public's Response Lauded By Campaign Leaders; Teams Report $75,960

Contributions reported at today's luncheon meeting of campaign leaders in the Allegheny County Welfare Association and Allegheny County Emergency Association boosted the total of the four-day drive to $1,731,942.93. The goal is approximately $6,000,000, to finance unemployment relief through the winter.

Today's reports were:

Corporation division, $4,200; special gifts division, $6,325; Sewickley division, $25,100; Central division, $33,964.56; Employes' division, $6,371.50.

A house-to-house canvass will be started Sunday under the direction of Mrs. William M. Henderson and Mrs. A. M. Oppenheimer.

William E. Quinby, leader of the Employers' Division, said today the response of the public this year has been greater than in others. A report of employes of the Philadelphia Company, he said, showed that last year 5,200 employes subscribed $14,524. To date the present appeal shows subscriptions from 1,944 employes totaling $34,248.

Speaking at a meeting yesterday Joseph Dilworth, campaign chairman, said that every employe of the Western Penitentiary has subscribed three days' pay to the fund.

All social workers in Allegheny County, he said, have voluntarily accepted a reduction their salaries of 8½ per cent, and have contributed to the fund amounts ranging from 1½ per cent to 5 per cent of their incomes. To date, 5,000 Pitt students and 2,600 Tech students have subscribed.

The chairman read a letter from the Rev. Dr. Carl August Voss saying that the Agora Club, composed of professional people, of which Dr. Voss is president, will contribute $300 out of its treasury.

Leading the list of subscriptions announced last night by the auditors was one for $100,000 from the United States Steel Corporation. Mr. and Mrs. George W. Crawford subscribed $54,000.

NEW AUTO TEST STATION EASES TRAFFIC

State Highway Patrol Opens $8,500 Grounds, Relieving Washington Blvd. Jams

Traffic congestion on Washington boulevard, near the new Allegheny River boulevard, was relieved by the opening of the new state highway patrol's testing grounds Saturday.

The testing grounds, used for examining applicants for drivers' licenses, is the only one of its kind in the country.

The station was built by the State Department of Highways at a cost of $8,500, on ground leased from the city of Pittsburgh. A main road 860 feet long and 24 feet wide terminated at both ends on Washington boulevard, with five roads running from it at right angles, is used by the operators taking examinations. The five lanes are 25 feet wide and 125 feet long.

Sergt. William H. Hallinan, who is in charge of the examinations, said:

"It's a lot easier to give the tests here. We do not have to watch out for cars on the main road and there is little chance of accidents."

How Much Does It Cost to Heat With Gas?

Because it burns without waste, gas is economical for complete home heating. Figured from a fuel cost alone, gas costs less than hard coal or coke. Savings are even more pronounced when you realize that with gas there are no "extras" for delivery, stoking, ash hauling, etc.

You can have gas heat in your home either through the installation of a gas fired boiler, warm air furnace or your present coal furnace can quickly be converted into an automatic gas furnace by a Roberts Gas Burner.

FILM REVEALS SECRET

The movie depicted the dredging of platinum sands from river bottoms in Colombia, South America, the concentration and preparation of crude platinum by washing the sands with water.

The crude platinum is dissolved in aqua regia, resulting in a solution of platinum and palladium, and a residue of considerable quantities of iridium, ruthenium and rhodium. The solution is concentrated and the platinum "sponge" removed by adding ammonium chloride.

This sponge is subsequently melted with an oxygen gas torch and results in a high-purity platinum.

The film also showed the rolling of platinum into sheets, the manufacture of platinum crucibles for use in laboratories, and the many processes involved in the creation of a platinum wedding ring.

AIR TRAGEDY STIRS ROMANCE

CHICAGO.—(INS.)—A tragedy of the air brought romance and love to the widow of Kenneth Hawks, one of 10 men killed in a plane crash at Hollywood last New Year's.

The widow, Mary Astor, of screen fame, is now the wife of Franklyn Thorpe, Hollywood physician. Following the death of her young husband, a letter to friends here disclosed, the film beauty was in poor health. She called a physician, and Dr. Thorpe answered.

The health of the patient rallied under his care, and soon they became fast friends. Then they were married in Yuma, Ariz., last June, where it also was disclosed that the bride's maiden name was Lucille V. Langhanke, the daughter of Otto Langhanke, a professor at the University of Kansas.

The announcement of the wedding a few months ago occasioned great surprise, but none here knew of the manner of meeting between the physician and the film star until friends received the recent letter.

LEAGUE GAMES ATTRACT EAST END SOCCER FANS

FOUR CONTESTS TO BE PLAYED SATURDAY

Union Switch and Signal-German Sport Club Battle Features Big Weekend Program

By TOM BIRKS

Now that the first round of the important cup ties is out of the way, soccer fans following the fortunes of the East End clubs will turn to league warfare Saturday afternoon for their day's entertainment.

All of the Central League clubs swing into action, four well balanced games being up for disposal. The feature game finds Jack Campbell's Union Switch and Signal eleven tangling with the German Sport Club at Sullivan field.

Pittsburgh sport fans have the faculty of wanting to watch the winning clubs in action, and German Sport, together with the Switch, can be classed in that category.

All the dope seems to point to the Switch winning the game, which is important to both clubs. German Sport won, handily enough last Sunday at Duquesne, but the team work of the club left plenty to be desired. There is little or no co-operation between the halfbacks and the forward line, and this will be the weak spot against the Switchers.

M'NAIR BEST ACE

A fast-stepping halfback line is necessary to stop Angus McNair, who is the first forward in the Pittsburgh district this season. And McNair's fancy stepping will cause the Germans plenty of trouble.

The game at Lawrenceville between the Rovers and Celtics also will attract a large crowd, but it seems impossible to think that the Rovers will be able to hold Tommy Edwards' green-clad aggregation. The Rovers are having a tough season. Jimmy Dunlop, in his first year as a manager, has plenty of worries and new material is the only answer to the Rovers' troubles.

The Celtics and Rovers are perennial rivals and that naturally will put a little pep into the game. Mills and Thompson are playing a good defensive game for the Rovers and Pete Boylan is doing his bit, but the forwards are woefully weak and cannot get goals.

Clan Douglas, the defending champion, will make the trip to Tarentum and that should be an easy brace of points to the Clans, men's total.

The fourth game finds the Westinghouse team entertaining the National Tube eleven of McKeesport and Westinghouse should win. Tube has too many veterans on its squad that cannot stand that hard grind of 90 minutes of play.

CELTICS PLAY MORRYS

The following Saturday will see a real game at Leslie Park, when the Pittsburgh Celtics clash with the Castle Shannon Morrys in the second round of the National amateur cup.

The Morrys, it will be remembered, swamped the Pittsburgh Rovers in the last round, so Lawrenceville fans are hoping to see the Celtics get revenge. League warfare will be placed back on the shelf for a couple of weeks following the playing of Saturday's games.

Western Pennsylvania has entered a record number of teams in the National Amateur cup, and this tourney, together with the West Penn championship, is going to keep the clubs all tied up for a couple of weeks. Commissioner Sam Parks announced the National Amateur cup draw a few days ago, and some of the clubs are having tough luck, especially the Morrys, who have been drawn for both competitions with Saturday clubs, and that is a drain on the treasury.

Yule Party Arranged By Mifflin Players

Riverman's Shanty With Million-Dollar View

HILLSIDE SHACK RIVALS PALACE

A mere shanty, built by its owner, Herbert Baker, 59, out of odds and ends he picked up, has a palatial setting that may surpass any of the large estates in Pittsburgh.

It is located half-way up the hill between the Allegheny River and new Washington boulevard, overlooking Aspinwall dam, the river and the wooded hills on the other side of the river. Shade trees keep it cool in the summer. The hill in back of the little santy shelters it from the cold winter winds.

Baker has worked on the river since he was aged 18 and helped to build the dam, which his shanty overlooks, 29 years ago. When he was unable to obtain work five months ago he dreaded the thought of leaving the river which he loved so much. He hit upon the present location for his shanty. He said:

"I am perfectly content to live here with my cat until times pick up. I get my food through doing odd jobs. What more could a man want than to live in the setting he was brought up in: a good place to sleep, food and an occasional visit from an old friend?"

The proceeds of the game will be used to help the relief fund drive. The change of fields and dates was made in ordere to draw a larger group of spectators.

The teams long have been rivals. Swissvale has lost two games, tied one and won four this season. Braddock has tied one, won two and lost four games.

RANGERS PLAY TUBERS

With the McKeesport Olympics idle in the Senior Conference fans following the independent grid sport around the East End section will travel to Olympic Park, McKeesport, to watch Christy Park meet the undefeated Rox Rangers in the feature battle of the Lightweight Conference Sunday afternoon.

This will be the first time that the Uansa-coached club has appeared in the Tube City, and the fact that the Rangers already have beaten Christy Park and also are leading the loop with an undefeated record, probably will bring out a record throng.

Whether Christy Park will be any more successful against the Rangers than it was in the last meeting is problematical.

Tomorrow evening at Homestead Athletic Field, East End fans will have an opportunity to watch the Cup Jenkins club play its first night game of the season against the Pitcairn Reynolds. The Jenkins aggregation will have a tough fight on its hands, since the Reynolds are being coached by former Mohawk mentors.
